NEIGHBORHOOD MEMORIAL. While veterans' organizations remembered the graves of departed comrades, youngsters in the Avondale St. area decorated a memorial to six neighbors who gave their lives in service. Reading clockwise are Beverly Swain, Russ Lyle, Jay Lyle, Jerry Lyle, Pete Hunter, Gwen Mills, Bill Hall and Raymond Jennings. The boys cleaned up the spot where the memorial was erected several years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Nicholson, used their own funds to purchase the shrubbery and were surprised when the girls arrived with the vases of flowers. The youngsters also plan to keep the spot cleaned out and do some more planting. The memorial is in tribute to Willis Hall Jr., Thomas Curley Jr., Earl Roush Jr., Tony Arbaugh and Harry Smith Jr., who died in World War II, and David Birch, a Korean casualty.

Divided Into 3 Parts

Split Senate Blocks DiSalle's Program, Including Tax Bills

'Mavericks' Hold Control Within Body

Upper House Left Almost Powerless To Act On Issues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It is not only Gaul, as Julius Caeser so aptly put it, but the Ohio Senate as well that is divided into three parts—majority Democrats, minority Republicans and the minority of the majority, the maverick Democrats.

The division leaves the Senate almost powerless to act on any controversial issue.

Count 'em up this way—15 Democratic regulars, 13 Republicans and five mavericks. It takes 17 votes to pass a bill in the Senate.

As long as the party regulars hold their ranks, the five mavericks are in control.

All of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's program is stymied as long as the ranks hold—including his 360-million-dollar tax program.

Four Clevelanders—Sens. Julius Petrash, Anthony Calabrese, John Corrigan and Ray T. Miller Jr.—plus Sen. Arthur Blake (D-Belmont) make up the maverick contingent.

The rebels make no bones about their unhappiness—with the Senate leadership and with what they term undue pressure for support of key legislation with which they do not agree.

The mavericks, having firmed up their ranks only in the last 48 hours, already have made overtures to Democratic Gov. DiSalle. They came close to meeting with him today, but then postponed the huddle until Monday.

In this overture, DiSalle professes to see a ray of hope for his beleaguered tax program now tied up completely in an atmosphere of suspicion and bitterness in the Senate.

The atmosphere has been building up for weeks, but the whole situation came to a fiery head Wednesday night when desperate regular Democrats slammed the gates on certain defeat of a proposed quadrupled corporation franchise tax—and then turned out the lights and tried to throw some senators out of the chamber.

That incident had its repercussions in the Senate Thursday. Among them was an hour - long reading—at the insistence of Sen. Fred L. Hoffman (R-Hamilton)—of a formal protest against Wednesday night's action in which a three-minute Senate session was summarily adjourned. The protest will be printed in full in the Senate journal and will preserve for posterity the Wednesday night Senate wrangle.

But, DiSalle asserted, the near-brawl had its brighter side. He told newsmen he noted a "changed attitude." Several Democrats and two Republicans have approached him with constructive suggestions since the Wednesday night donnybrook, DiSalle reported.

"When they see the pieces resulting from such an explosion," DiSalle commented, "they try to figure out a way to put them back together again."

Thursday's Senate session produced absolutely nothing in the way of concrete action. No bills were on the calendar and nothing was voted upon.

Fire At Sea Follows Jet Crash

4 Die, 21 Hurt In Mishaps On 2 U.S. Plane Carriers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Fire at sea followed the crash of a Navy jet plane aboard the aircraft carrier Essex Thursday.

The pilot of the plane was killed, and an airman on the carrier deck burned to death.

Three men were critically injured and 18 hospitalized with minor burns or injuries.

It took nearly an hour to put out the flames that spread when the plane cartwheeled across the deck.

Six planes were destroyed or damaged. The carrier had considerable damage to its rear elevator, upper deck compartments and electrical wiring and equipment.

Lt. James C. Steele, pilot of the jet, was waved off after a low approach but his right wing dipped, caught a parked aircraft and his plane then cartwheeled across the deck, followed by explosions and fire, the Navy reported.

Steele and his plane went into the water and were lost. His widow is the former Wilma Moore of Harrodsburg, Ky., and his mother is Vera C. Steele of East Longmeadow, Mass.

Charles E. Porter, the airman who burned to death, lived in Jacksonville with his wife, Ruth.

Those critically hurt are Earl Ray Smith, son of Gladys Swistak, Wayne, Mich.; Michael P. Carbonara, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Carbonara, Wood-ridge, N.J.; and Gerald E. Frost, son of Leola Hixinbough, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The Essex returned to duty a few hours after the accident and continued operations in a training exercise about 200 miles east of Jacksonville. The ship is scheduled to come to its home berth near here Saturday.

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP)—An S2F tracker plane taxiing into takeoff position plunged off the deck of the aircraft carrier Randolph Thursday, killing two of its four-man crew.

The body of Lt. (j.g.) Stephen C. Gardner of Orlando, Fla. was still missing. The body of Melvin R. Saunders, of Petersburg, Va., was recovered. The accident occurred about 175 miles south of here.

U.S. War Dead Due Honor On Memorial Day

Ceremonies From Coast-To-Coast To Be 91st Observance

By The Associated Press

America's revered dead — military heroes of the nation's five major wars since the struggle for independence — will be honored Saturday in the 91st annual observance of Memorial Day.

The ceremonies, spreading from coast to coast, across the Pacific to Hawaii and northward to Alaska, will center chiefly at national cemeteries, battlefields and other shrines.

The long holiday weekend got under way today as millions, traveling by train, car and plane, started an exodus from crowded cities to resort areas.

America has counted 1,128,393 killed in the five major wars since the revolution, and countless thousands will pay homage at gravesites in large and small communities throughout the nation.

Saturday's scheduled activities are varied in from:

At Rindge, N.H., Daughters of the Confederacy and Daughters of Union Veterans will lay wreaths on an altar on a pine-clad hill. The scene of the joint commemoration will be the altar of the nation, recognized by Congress as a memorial for all American war dead. It is the only one of its kind.

In the nation's capital, memorial services will be held in the amphitheater of Arlington National Cemetery. Veterans Administrator Sumner G. Whittier will speak.

At Honolulu, the U.S. Navy will hold a Memorial Day service on a platform aboard the sunken battleship Arizona—a victim of the Dec. 7, 1941, Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. Still entombed in the Arizona's hulk in Pearl Harbor are 1,102 officers and men.

Also at Honolulu, schoolchildren, veterans organizations and relatives will place flower leis on the stone grave markers of 17,000 Pacific war dead buried in the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific—better known as Punchbowl Cemetery, an extinct volcano crater overlooking downtown Honolulu.

'Press Conference' Set

Space Monkeys Flown To Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Able and Baker, the world's most renowned monkeys are flying here for a press conference Saturday.

From personal experience, they know more about space travel than the government scientists who will present them.

After all, they traveled 1,500 miles, curving out more than 300 miles into space, aboard a Jupiter missile Thursday.

They survived, with nary a missed heartbeat, the ponderous thrust as the rocket lifted off the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. They endured nine minutes free of the earth's pull of gravity as the missile screamed along at 10,000 miles an hour.

And they survived the burning re-entry into the earth's atmosphere far out in the Atlantic near the island of Antigua. The recovery of their nose cone vehicle from the sea by Navy vessels was almost an anticlimax.

Able is a seven-pound rhesus monkey, Baker a squirrel monkey weighing only a pound. Both are females.

Through electronic instruments that radioed back such information as pulse rate, body heat and blood pressure, they told scientists much about what can happen to a traveler in space.

The two pioneering monkeys were aboard the Navy tug Kiowa early today, alive and well. As a medical oficer cabled back after the sea pickup, "Able, Baker perfect. No injuries or other difficulties."

After reaching San Juan, Puerto Rico, they will be flown to Washington. Project scientists will meet newsmen Saturday with Able and Baker on hand to meet the press.

The monkey's successful 15-minute trip is hailed as an auspicious forerunner for the projected orbiting around the earth of human "Mercury Astronauts" by the United States some time in the next two years.

Other things included in the nose cone package will give space scientists further information. Also aboard were specimens of corn, yeast, mustard seed, fruit fly larvae, human blood, bread mold spore and the eggs and sperm of sea urchins.

These will be studied for the possible effects of radiation, cosmic rays and weightlessness. The eggs and sperm from the sea creatures were triggered to mix during the flight so as to provide an indication of how the reproduction process might work under space conditions.

One thing the scientists will never know was whether Able pressed a telegraph key every time a light blinked during her flight, as she was carefully trained to do. This was to show whether she could react with such a trained response during the stress of the flight.

Unfortunately, that part of the complicated electronic relay didn't work.

British Protest U.S. Firing Space Monkeys

LONDON (AP)—British animal lovers formally protested to the U.S. Embassy today against America's firing of two monkeys through space. The Conference of Animal Welfare Societies, an organization of almost 30 animal welfare societies in Britain and abroad, delivered the written protest.

Trucker Goes To Jail For Chester Hill Speed

A Newark trucker, traveling 55 miles an hour down the Route 30 hill into Chester, was nabbed by a Hancock County deputy sheriff Thursday night and later jailed when unable to pay a fine on a reckless driving charge.

Boyd Hensley was fined $50 and costs by Squire Eugene Allison of Chester after he was cited by Deputy Edward Frankovitch.

The officer said Hensley's rig was moving at 55 miles an hour from the hilltop to the midway area where he was halted.

Hensley was committed to the Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland in lieu of payment of the fine.

Holiday Traffic Surge Reflected In County

The start of the holiday traffic flow was evident on district roads this morning as the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported increasing travel.

Officers said a license plate check indicated Cleveland and Akron area residents were a large part of southern movement past the Lisbon post.

Cpl. John Miller said as many patrol units are available will be on duty over the weekend on the roads, watching for violations and checking speeds with radar.

2 Killed In Peak Bid

Big 4 Aides To Start Final Geneva Talks

Useful Exchange Of Views Reported On Flight From U.S.

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers announced today after a trans-Atlantic sky conference that they had a useful exchange of views on their overnight flight from Washington.

They agreed to start the final round of their Geneva talks on German problems, the Berlin crisis and the prospects for a summit conference at the villa of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd at 6 p. m. (11 a. m. DST).

The U.S. Air Force plane carrying Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Foreign Secretary Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville landed at Cointrin Airport here at 12:54 p.m.

The four ministers were in a jovial mood. Herter was first off the plane, Gromyko following. Assistant Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding, who had ridden in an accompanying aircraft, issued a statement on behalf of the four:

"The four foreign ministers had an opportunity on the aircraft of reviewing the progress of the Geneva conference and to discuss certain details of their respective positions. All agreed that their exchange of views had been most useful. The four ministers agreed to meet again privately and informally at 5 o'clock at Mr. Lloyd's Geneva residence."

Berding supplied some details of the conference in the clouds after talking briefly with Herter.

The four ministers took off from Washington in midafternoon. For the first hour they chatted informally and read newspapers and magazines and the like. Then they organized a meeting — with about as much secrecy as they will ever get—and talked about conference issues for an hour and a half.

A Russian adviser and several American officials were seated near the conferring group of ministers.

In addition to the time they spent in discussion Thursday night, including the formally organized talk, the Big Four talked over East - West problems for about an hour this morning before they reached Geneva.

Various accounts indicated that altogether the four spent six or seven hours in conversation, either organized or casual.

The big four-engined aircraft—a DC6 — was six minutes ahead of estimated arrival time on the 17-hour flight from Washington. The ministers took off Thursday for their sky session after conferring with President Eisenhower.

Car Collision Near Toronto Leaves 5 Hurt

Woman Cited After Wallace Hill Wreck Involving 2 Autos

Five persons were injured in a two-car auto crash Thursday night at 7:20 on Wallace Hill about 2 miles west of Toronto, the Wintersville Barracks of the State Highway Patrol reported today.

The patrol said cars operated by Thomas E. Horvath, 26, of Toronto R. D. 2 and Mrs. Anna Bell I. Harsh, 35, of Minerva collided at the intersection of Jefferson County Roads 46 and 42 while one was attempting a left turn.

Horvath escaped injury but his wife, Mrs. Judy M. Horvath, 22, and son, Thomas E. Horvath Jr., 2, were hospitalized with injuries.

The Minerva woman and two passengers in her auto were treated for injuries at the Ohio Valley Hospital in Steubenville.

Mrs. Horvath was admitted to the hospital for a possible fractured neck. The couple's young son was admitted for a deep laceration of the forehead and a fractured left knee, the patrol said.

Mrs. Harsh, who was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way, was treated for a fractured left elbow and later released.

Passengers in her auto who were injured were Mrs. Irene Aultfather, 58, and Henry Aultfather, 60, both of Minerva R. D. 3. Mrs. Aultfather was treated for a possible fractured ribs and back in-

Judge Warns Of Vandalism Against Cars

A warning of drastic action to curb widespread vandalism against automobiles was issued today by Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon.

The statement was prompted by what the judge termed "a vicious amount" of damage in the last two weeks.

His warning follows: "over the last two weeks, there has been a widespread and vicious amount of vandalism against automobiles. This has included the deliberate breaking of windshields, stealing of hubcaps and the disfigurement of cars by rubbing ink and other material on them. At one function given on May 16 at Westgate school, East Liverpool some 24 cars had the air deflated from the tires.

"I have no knowledge that this is the work of juveniles, but I would like to go on record that if any juveniles are involved they will be dealt with severely and in all probability will be sent to the boys' or girls' industrial school, even though it may be their first offense. I hope that this will be a warning to all children and their parents who might be involved. Such vandalism is senseless and vicious and completely cowardly, since the individuals seek a time when the automobile is unprotected by its owner. I think drastic steps should be taken to break this up."

15 Indicted In New York's Jukebox Probe

Top-Ranking Leader Of Teamsters Union Among Those Cited

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A top-ranking national leader of the Teamsters Union and a dozen other men were held today on indictments by a grand jury which investigated jukebox industry rackets on Long Island.

The president of a New York City local of the Teamsters Union and other teamsters officals were among 15 men indicted Thursday night.

John J. O'Rourke, 59, an international vice president of the union and head of the Teamsters' Joint Council 16 in New York City, was one of those arrested. He was freed on bail after a couple of hours in jail.

After his release in $25,000 bail, O'Rourke went to the fashionable Garden City Hotel near Mineola, to rest until his appearance in county court today.

He was the only one of those arrested to be freed in bail.

County officers pressed search today for the remaining three men of the 15 indicted. Names of those still at large were not made public.

O'Rourke is a long-time friend of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and was named general organizer of the union last December.

Most of those indicted were arrested within a short time after the indictments were handed up by a Nassau County grand jury.

Thunderstorms Forecast

Memorial Day Services Will Honor Area War Dead

The crash of rifle volleys fired in salute and the soft, sad sound of "Taps" will echo throughout the Tri-State area Saturday as the living pay tribute to the dead in all the nation's wars.

But scattered thunderstorms may dampen the solemn observance of Memorial Day, and the inauguration of another season at Tri-State District parks and pools.

The showers forecast for tomorrow were not pin-pointed as to time but the week's pattern may continue—a warm and humid day with rain in late afternoon or early evening. Temperatures will be above normal, which will please persons taking their first swim of the season.

The men who fought in World War I, their sons—veterans of World War II—and their grandsons with Korean Conflict service behind them will join in homage to the thousands of district men called to the colors through many generations. There will be a sprinkling of old-timers from the Spanish-American War of 1898, but most of them are gone.

Cemetery plots will be decorated with flags and flowers, thousands will watch parades set to the time of martial music and orators will extol the nation's glories and sorrows.

East Liverpool's observance started today, when veteran's organizations decorated the graves of former comrades in district cemeteries. Saturday at 10

An Announcement

Beginning Monday, June 1, the single copy price of the East Liverpool Review will be advanced 2 cents, from 5 cents to 7 cents.

The home delivery price by newspaperboys and motor route delivery will remain unchanged at 30 cents a week.

All single copy sales agents such as newsstands, drug-stores, grocery stores and general service outlets, along with the operators of self-service "honor racks", will share in this increase.

Since January 1947 when the present single copy price of 5 cents was established, the year-to-year mounting costs of production make this change an economic necessity.

Western diplomats believe Khrushchev is anxious for a summit meeting, regardless of the line he adopts publicly for propaganda purposes.

Big 4 Aides To Start Final Geneva Talks

Useful Exchange Of Views Reported On Flight From U.S.

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers announced today after a trans-Atlantic sky conference that they had a useful exchange of views on their overnight flight from Washington.

They agreed to start the final round of their Geneva talks on German problems, the Berlin crisis and the prospects for a summit conference at the villa of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd at 6 p. m. (11 a. m. DST).

The U.S. Air Force plane carrying Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Foreign Secretary Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville landed at Cointrin Airport here at 12:54 p.m.

In addition to the time they spent in discussion Thursday night, including the formally organized talk, the Big Four talked over East - West problems for about an hour this morning before they reached Geneva.

Various accounts indicated that altogether the four spent six or seven hours in conversation, either organized or casual.

Judge Warns Of Vandalism Against Cars

A warning of drastic action to curb widespread vandalism against automobiles was issued today by Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon.

The statement was prompted by what the judge termed "a vicious amount" of damage in the last two weeks.

His warning follows: "over the last two weeks, there has been a widespread and vicious amount of vandalism against automobiles. This has included the deliberate breaking of windshields, stealing of hubcaps and the disfigurement of cars by rubbing ink and other material on them. At one function given on May 16 at Westgate school, East Liverpool some 24 cars had the air deflated from the tires.

"I have no knowledge that this is the work of juveniles, but I would like to go on record that if any juveniles are involved they will be dealt with severely and in all probability will be sent to the boys' or girls' industrial school, even though it may be their first offense. I hope that this will be a warning to all children and their parents who might be involved. Such vandalism is senseless and vicious and completely cowardly, since the individuals seek a time when the automobile is unprotected by its owner. I think drastic steps should be taken to break this up."

15 Indicted In New York's Jukebox Probe

Top-Ranking Leader Of Teamsters Union Among Those Cited

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A top-ranking national leader of the Teamsters Union and a dozen other men were held today on indictments by a grand jury which investigated jukebox industry rackets on Long Island.

The president of a New York City local of the Teamsters Union and other teamsters officals were among 15 men indicted Thursday night.

John J. O'Rourke, 59, an international vice president of the union and head of the Teamsters' Joint Council 16 in New York City, was one of those arrested. He was freed on bail after a couple of hours in jail.

After his release in $25,000 bail, O'Rourke went to the fashionable Garden City Hotel near Mineola, to rest until his appearance in county court today.

He was the only one of those arrested to be freed in bail.

County officers pressed search today for the remaining three men of the 15 indicted. Names of those still at large were not made public.

O'Rourke is a long-time friend of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and was named general organizer of the union last December.

Most of those indicted were arrested within a short time after the indictments were handed up by a Nassau County grand jury.

Thunderstorms Forecast

Memorial Day Services Will Honor Area War Dead

The crash of rifle volleys fired in salute and the soft, sad sound of "Taps" will echo throughout the Tri-State area Saturday as the living pay tribute to the dead in all the nation's wars.

But scattered thunderstorms may dampen the solemn observance of Memorial Day, and the inauguration of another season at Tri-State District parks and pools.

The showers forecast for tomorrow were not pin-pointed as to time but the week's pattern may continue—a warm and humid day with rain in late afternoon or early evening. Temperatures will be above normal, which will please persons taking their first swim of the season.

The men who fought in World War I, their sons—veterans of World War II—and their grandsons with Korean Conflict service behind them will join in homage to the thousands of district men called to the colors through many generations. There will be a sprinkling of old-timers from the Spanish-American War of 1898, but most of them are gone.

Cemetery plots will be decorated with flags and flowers, thousands will watch parades set to the time of martial music and orators will extol the nation's glories and sorrows.

East Liverpool's observance started today, when veteran's organizations decorated the graves of former comrades in district cemeteries. Saturday at 10

An Announcement

Beginning Monday, June 1, the single copy price of the East Liverpool Review will be advanced 2 cents, from 5 cents to 7 cents.

The home delivery price by newspaperboys and motor route delivery will remain unchanged at 30 cents a week.

All single copy sales agents such as newsstands, drugstores, grocery stores and general service outlets, along with the operators of self-service "honor racks", will share in this increase.

Since January 1947 when the present single copy price of 5 cents was established, the year-to-year mounting costs of production make this change an economic necessity.

Western diplomats believe Khrushchev is anxious for a summit meeting, regardless of the line he adopts publicly for propaganda purposes.

Blacktopping Of Playlot Set

Work is scheduled to begin sometime next week on construction of a recreational area in Newell after a contract for blacktopping of the play site was let by the Newell Youth Council Thursday night.

A bid of $800 of the River Asphalt, Inc., of Kenilworth on Route 66 was accepted by the Council for surfacing the area.

The 50-x-90-foot area to be located at the north end of the Memorial Athletic Field near Wells High School.

Plans call for basketball boards to be erected at each end with facilities for volleyball, tennis and badminton also planned.

Besides serving as a recreational area for the community, the paved area can also serve as a site for the high school band to practice formations. The school's physical education classes may also drill on the paved area when surrounding ground is wet or muddy.

Original plans of the council — organized two years ago to spearhead the recreational site project —call for lights to be installed but a lack of funds will delay this.

Lack of adequate funds also resulted in the area being reduced from 100-x-100 feet.

The council includes most of the community's civic groups which donated funds for construction of the recreational area. Eleven delegates attended last night's meeting in the high school.

Principal Harold D. Gregory is chairman of the project. A request for volunteers to aid in construction is expected to be made sometime next week.

A Lesson In Land Restoration

Proper restoration of land scarred by strip coal mining is becoming an increasing concern in areas so affected.

Strip mining in itself, shorn of any sincere attempt to return the land to as near its original state as possible, is a thing to be sharply criticized in many respects. And in the past abandonment of stripped areas was the rule rather than the exception. The desecration of land deteriorated to the point where many state legislatures became alarmed and decided to do something about it. Ohio's General Assembly was among them.

We were with a group which toured stripped lands of the Ohio Power Co. in the southeastern part of the state this week. The dedicated efforts being made to restore the land were impressive.

It was with extreme interest, therefore, that we read in The Pittsburgh Press Wednesday night of similar restoration efforts near Burgettstown, Pa., in Washington County.

The writer was Roger Latham, a recognized authority on the outdoors. Mr. Latham's comments were concerned with reclamation work on land of the Harmon Creek Coal Corp. His remarks, which apply equally well to southeastern Ohio, included the following:

"What we saw being done proved that strip mining operations need not result in permanent, unsightly scars on the landscape. What we saw also proved that there are men still blessed with a feeling of moral responsibility to the generations of the future . . .

"Field after field has been planted to trees —both evergreens and hardwoods. Some of the pines are six and eight feet tall and someday will make valuable saw timber or other wood products. Other fields have been more recently planted. . .

"In other places with the judicious use of lime, there are green fields of clovers, grasses, lespedizas, trefoils and other pasture crops. These have been planted to secure the soil against erosion, to increase the fertility and to provide food for rabbits, deer and other wildlife . . .

"And nestled in one of the little valleys is a fine fishing lake, a completely unexpected delight to the visitor who has visions of only yellow acid waters . . ."

There is a lesson for all strip mine operators in the reclamation progress of the Ohio Power Co. and the Harmon Creek Coal Corp.

At Least No Bulls Are Tortured

It is easily possible to get into a slam-bang argument about the famous 500-mile race traditionally held on Memorial Day at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

But the argument is a waste of time, because those who are devoted to the Indianapolis classic are not going to be talked out of their enthusiasm any more than the critics of the race are going to be talked out of their disapproval.

In recent years it has ceased to be claimed that the event at Indianapolis is indispensable to the evolution of the automobile. It now is a straight-out sporting event, very much like a bullfight, except that no animals are tortured. The drivers take a calculated risk to put on a show for spectators. They are performing for money. They are professional chance-takers.

Many of them have been quoted from time to time to the effect they are not as frightened in an automobile race as they are when they must risk their lives in traffic under the hazard of being smashed by some fool who could not survive a single lap on the Indianapolis Speedway.

When the professional drivers risk their lives, they at least have the advantage of being in the company of men who know what they are doing. It is the only thing that makes auto racing feasible — the only thing that keeps it from being hopelessly dangerous.

If you must go somewhere in an automobile over the Memorial Day weekend, go in fear. You are doing something the survivors of the hazards at Indianapolis would not care to do under the circumstances.

A Fair Share Of Productivity

One of the wistful yearnings that has come out of steel-strike talk is for the Steelworkers to let wages stay were they are while management cuts the price of steel.

This would be justified, it is argued, by the high earnings of the steel industry in 1958—an off-year when tonnage was down and earnings were up.

This improved productivity during a time of large-scale unemployment in the industry was a significant indication of what automation holds in store for heavy industry. Already in Detroit the auto industry has been demonstrating how it can turn out more production with fewer employes.

Yet, in the main current of thought about industrial productivity, it is being assumed that only labor has any clear moral right to share in productivity's benefits. The chairman of General Electric Co., Ralph J. Cordiner, was talking about this sort of thing before the Economic Club of Detroit the other day.

He said it has been a mistake in the first place to tie wages to productivity, which was a variable factor and hard to determine. Wage costs, he suggested, should be tied to local circumstances, market conditions and the requirements of individual companies and industries.

Inflation, he pointed out, had been boosted by excessive pay increases based on questionable statistics about productivity in one particular unit of one particular industry—statistics that had no bearing on other units in other industries.

The real sources of higher productivity, in his opinion, are research, development, better materials, investments in better tools and facilities and new managerial concepts. He denied that people are working harder or even as hard as their grandfathers did.

In the clamor over who gets the benefit of productivity, the production worker has been prefered over the investor, the consumer and even over other workers whose essential services are not tied to a productivity statistic—teachers and other public employes, for example.

Mr. Cordiner's ideas are not likely to change any popular concepts about a fair share of productivity, but they shed new light on the root cause of inflation.

Our River Banks

The need for beautification of the city's river banks has been one of our pet peeves.

A trip through the upper Ohio Valley always serves to rekindle an interest in the program.

Down-river communities, such as Marietta and those on the smaller Muskingum River, apparently appreciate to the fullest the natural beauty that is theirs providing they are willing to raise a hand on its behalf.

Properly landscaped shore lines add greatly to civic beauty. The change here is not something that can occur overnight. It is a matter of long-range planning. If nothing else at the present, however, East Liverpool could see to it that its river banks are cleared of unsightly debris; that trees which block the view are trimmed, and that other possible improvements be started.

Until more money becomes available, nothing can be accomplished on a major scale. But, at least, steps could be launched in the direction of a general cleanup of the river area.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"Ike Plays Golf and Studies Herter Report," says a headline. That's one way to run up a golf score. Can you imagine going around a course with the last-minute data from Geneva? The President's routine must have run like this:

1. The President misses four putts following the paragraph in Herter's report: "If you think you're having trouble, look at me."

2. On the second hole he reads, "Gromyko still addresses the ball upside-down and insists the normal position is a crude challenge to world peace." Ike whiffs three drives.

3. Worry how to get out of a sandtrap. Ike hears Gromyko cry, "You must get out of West Berlin."

4. On the next hole, the President goes into the heavy rough and reads Herter's inquiry, "I'm in deeper than you. Should I pick up or continue against a player who steps on a ball, talks loudly on all tees and calls every scorecard but his own completely false?"

5. By this time, Gromyko has begun to figure in every backswing and Ike fancies he hears a cry of "Nyet!" every time he selects a club.

6. The caddie advises, "Keep your head down," but Ike can't get rid of the idea he hears Gromyko calling it a crude violation of international law.

7. "Relax. You're too tense," says a golfing partner. "There's only one cure," says Ike. "Put the Herter report on a wooden tee and let me play it instead of a golf ball."

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND dollars worth of tranquilizer pills were stolen in a N.Y. robbery. The determination to get a little sleep in America can be carried too far. . . .

Parents cooperated in plans to follow New Canaan, Conn., High School prom with an all night dance, winding up with a breakfast shortly after dawn. There is nothing so helpful to the young as promoting the idea, "Get home by 2 a.m.," is part of a dead language. Our bet is that the parents at the all-night party were explaining, around 3 o'clock, "Whose idea was this anyhow?"

Since Ethel Merman plays Gypsy Rose Lee's domineering mama in "Gypsy," the hit musical could be called "Life With Mother." Incidentally, the striptease numbers in this show make anything Minsky ever did seem tepid. . . .

HOW THE AMERICAN demand for more holidays is growing was shown when high school students got indignant because Memorial Day falls on Saturday, thus making them settle for two free days instead of three in a row. Stratford students numbering 1,000 signed a petition asking Friday off and, believe it or not, 35 teachers went along with them for the four-day (so to speak) "work" week. . . .

Dore Schary has a new play, "The Highest Tree," and we hear one backer wanted protection from being "left out on a limb."

"Bigger Demand For Men's Garments"—headline. . . . Spring peek at the bathing indicates the gals could use a few, too.

U.S. Attorney General Rogers appeals to courtesy for stronger laws to smash nationwide crime rings. They're certainly needed. Our bet is that racketeers will continue to thumb noses at laws so long as there is no crack-down on high-priced members of the bar who make life's work of keeping them in circulation.

Push The Button, Somebody!

Hoffa Loses His Righthand Man

By Victor Riesel

Early Sunday morning a debonair "mystery man" — younger than most and more fun loving and free wheeling — died in the District of Columbia's George Washington hospital.

Victor Riesel

And with him died some of Jim Hoffa's hopes for disengagement from a series of government feuds which still threaten his power.

He was "Eddie" Cheyfitz, a proletarian kid turned fashion plate and swimming pool squire on the fees he made as the man whom Hoffa always consulted — and had been consulting for almost a decade. They were close — these two men — and in the past two months Cheyfitz had been attempting to quiet Jimmy down.

Eddie had been trying to argue the Teamster chief out of living in a fish bowl under the gaze of columnists, magazine writers and their photographers.

EDDIE ONLY SUCCEEDED in convincing Jimmy to stay off the air so the public would not see and hear him duck a curved question.

But it was a rare moment in the past 10 years when Hoffa did not listen to Cheyfitz, friend of Hollywood stars and producers, diplomats and Cabinet members, clergymen and columnists, industrial tycoons and grass roots business agents.

There will be some insiders who will scoff at the influence held by this 45-year-old Washington lawyer and labor relations man. But those who really knew Eddie know that his influence reached high into American circles in Moscow, diplomatic circles in London and intellectual circles in the great American universities.

It was Cheyfitz's idea to attempt to turn Hoffa into an international personality — and it was Cheyfitz who flew to Brussels and London and walked into our embassies there in an effort to pave the global ways.

IT WAS CHEYFITZ who transformed Hoffa, the husky warehouseman, into Hoffa, the university man. Eddie did this one day when he was lecturing at Harvard. Cheyfitz talked to one of the world's outstanding economists there.

The professor invited Hoffa to speak. When Hoffa finished, the professor told Cheyfitz that the teamster chief had shown fine knowledge of the economics of transportation.

Eddie said why not put it in writing. The professor did. Copies of that letter made the rounds and Eddie was hard at work trying to prove that Hoffa was brainer than brawnier.

It was Cheyfitz who swung some leading industrialists to "Hoffa's-not-to-bad-he's - still - young - wait-and-see camp. Eddie did this by using his own business contacts—a network few in this land would believe existed even if they saw it on Playhouse 90.

Eddies own relationships tied him into sections of the merchant marine, steel, coal, auto, glass, textile, trucking, auto parts and container industries constantly. He talked with generals, reformers, corporation presidents, churchmen and national labor leaders.

He would drop names into a conversation like ships drop anchor —and usually with the same splash. And always his pitch was, "There's nothing on Jimmy. They'll never get him. He may be rough, but he's been real careful."

Usually he'd begin a conversation with "I'm calling you from the governor's mansion in ——. You've got Jimmy wrong."

AND ODDLY ENOUGH, he was calling from the governor's mansion and would even put the governor on the phone to say "hello."

How could this "mystery man" do it? He was the prime, sublime contact man of all time. His stock in trade was his willingness to make a contact, bridge a gap, dig out the information few others could get. This he would barter. He'd dig stuff up merely for the quid pro quo of being able to say "I spoke to so-and-so today."

This he'd parley into an insinuation of influence and then into some service for one of his clients—but mostly for the big client, Jim Hoffa.

Now Eddie is gone. An era, a system is gone. Soon we'll know how much Jim Hoffa has lost.

Letters To The Editor

To the voters of the Stanton Local School District:

When you go to the polls on June 2 to vote on the proposed school bond issue being submitted by the Stanton Local Board of Education, there is a great deal more to be considered than the installation of toilets in the Hammondsville Elementary School (which is the only school in Jefferson County without inside toilets) and the construction of a new elementary school along the river front to replace the present buildings in Empire, Stratton and Port Homer.

You are going to vote on whether you wish to retain your school district or whether you want it broken up and parceled out to the adjoining districts. We have had handed to us the means whereby we can have the best in educational facilities that money can buy with the lowest tax rate in eastern Ohio. Up to this point, we have demonstrated as a district that we do not want it. We must look awful foolish in the eyes of our neighbors.

It is very difficult by any stretch of the imagination to understand how anyone with children could even think of opposing this bond issue. It is just as difficult to think how anyone who may be interested in taxes could think of opposing it. In fact it is hard to believe that any person once they understood the matter could ever oppose it.

There are many young men and women who are parents, as well as many others, who are able to see and fully realize the many advantages and opportunities that we have, and they are working very hard to win this election. They are interested in the welfare of the children of this district. The sad note about the whole matter is that some are not able or do not want to see it.

The board of education has placed the question fairly, honestly and clearly before you, and what to expect if this bond issue continues to be defeated. The board of education told you that your taxes would be lowered. The tax rate was cut 2.8 mills and further reductions are coming. The board of education told you that the bond levy for the proposed bond issue would be reduced to 2.5 mills, it has been reduced to 2.4 mills.

Proper educational facilities must be provided for the children in this area. We have two buildings that cannot meet the state standards on Sept. 1, 1959—one, an eight - grade - 41 - pupil - two-teacher school, and the only school like this in eastern Ohio. Someone is going to see that these children get the education to which they are entitled. We have been given the opportunity to do it, and at the same time share in all the benefits that the new power plant will provide.

If we as a district fail to do this, some other district will see that it is done and we will not have anything to say about it. I personally know the patience of higher educational officials is wearing out.

If we fail in our responsibilities and the district is broken up, will those who are opposing it assume the responsibility? They will not. They will scream first, louder and longer than any one else.

The time has come when we no longer can gamble with the welfare of our boys and girls in this school district. The time has come when we no longer can think in terms of prejudices and selfishness. Good "old-fashioned common sense" must prevail. Duty, pride and self respect must come first.

We must not close our eyes to the fact that certain individuals and forces within and outside our school district are determined to destroy this school district for reasons known only to themselves.

I have enough confidence and faith in the good citizens of the Stanton Local School District that they are not going to be so foolish as to let slip away from them the greatest opportunity that any school district in this part of the state has ever had. Certainly our boys and girls are worth a trip to the polls and a vote for the school bond issue. I am sure it will be the best investment you ever made.

C. P. HENDERSON
Superintendent Stanton Schools

To the mayor of Irondale, Quenton Henderson:

Would you explain to the public the statement made by you at the meeting in Stratton on April 28?

We might as well face the fact the high school would serve as an elementary school for Irondale and Hammondsville.

I don't consider you a School Board member. The letter you were referring to was directed to the Board of Education. I know where my neighbors live, the ones you have referred to in your letter. But they represent Irondale.

I would like to make it clear, I represent no one but myself. I look and think for myself. I'm not a front or yes man for anyone. I too would like to see the new elementary school, but in the proper site, not on this site.

I'm certainly interested in a good education for my seven children.

Strange World

Four to seven miles beneath the surface of the ocean lies a strange world which no man has ever visited.

It is a world of pitch - black darkness, near-freezing temperatures and pressures that range as high as 900 tons per square foot. A fraction of that pressure is enough to crush a block of wood to half size. Yet life not only exists, but thrives.

So far scientists know only a little about the strange creatures that inhabit these enormous depths. Indeed, it was not until a few years ago that they knew that life could survive under such terrifying conditions.

To be sure, scientists had long known about the extraordinary fish with fantastic shapes and luminous organs which live at a depth of perhaps 3,000 to 10,000 feet. But the floor of the ocean drops much deeper. In 1951 the British oceanographic vessel Challenger recorded a depth of 35,640 feet, about 200 miles southwest of Guam, in the Pacific Ocean's Mariana Trench.

The bottom of this trench lies father below sea level than Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, soars above it.

Super Supreme Soviet

By David Lawrence

Khrushchev Plans "Annexing" Satellites

GENEVA

News has emerged from reliable sources at Geneva that Premier Khrushchev has a plan to bring about the virtual annexation by the Soviet Union of all the "captive" states, including East Germany. They would become part of a super supreme Soviet in Moscow.

David Lawrence

This means that German reunification has never been and is not now a Soviet objective and that, for all practical purposes, the proposed "peace treaty" with the East German government is a camouflaged formula by which it is intended that the various countries in eastern Europe shall retain their "independence" but under a federated supergovernment managed by the Communist autocracy in the Kremlin.

There is already a consolidation on the economic side directed from Moscow but now it is planned to go further on the political side. This may be Khrushchev's answer to the European Common Market and to similar moves that look to a United States of Europe in the orbit of Western influence.

The Soviet plan was first hinted at in a recent speech by Khrushchev in Leipzig but now it has been confirmed in information coming out of the other countries under Soviet domination. One point stressed by the Soviet premier takes on added significance.

It is that there is, as he said the other day, no need for a definition of frontiers as between the smaller states of Eastern Europe. If all these countries are to be subservient to a common master in Moscow, why should they worry about borders?

THE NEW PLAN has certain military aspects. Thus, the Soviet army was not too happy with its mission in Hungary when it was ordered to crush the uprising there three years ago. Under the new setup, there would be an exchange of troops for police purposes.

Small numbers of troops would be sent from one area to another in mixed forces as police units, thereby overcoming any nationalistic difficulties. Also this would facilitate sending in Soviet troops to any point in case of the threat of an uprising or as a military demonstration against the West.

The idea is that, with no frontiers and with representation in a super-supreme Soviet, autonomy would remain but it would be a kind of integrated arrangement.

There will be denial by the Soviets always that this amounts to annexation. They will point to the existence of local governments. The hand - picked Parliaments would continue as an outer semblance of so-called independence. But the scheme could easily amount to a permanent abolition of actual sovereignty as in Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia.

Stalin originated the plan but Khrushchev is reported to be ready to put it into effect. In each country Communism is to be the accepted doctrine for social, economic and political life.

The maneuver to get started on the annexation plan is probably the real reason why the Soviet government stirred up the crisis over West Berlin.

It doesn't matter very much to Moscow if the Western Allies are granted a sop in the form of an "interim solution" for West Berlin. For this would keep things as they are and give the Soviets an excuse to deal with East Germany as a separate entity. Its membership in the new super - supreme Soviet would presumably be "voluntary" in the Communist sense.

MANY PEOPLE in the West who have been deliberately scared by the ultimatum demanding allied withdrawal from West Berlin will probably hail almost any disposition of this particular issue and will be tempted to forego any further pressure for German reunification. But the Soviet strategy will be exposed to have been a move in one direction to cover up an aggression in another direction.

Meanwhile, reports from the satellite countries indicate puzzlement as to why Great Britain, in the midst of the Foreign Ministers Conference, signed a trade treaty at Moscow. It is being asked what was so urgent about it that the British couldn't wait till the conference was over.

The Soviet tactics all along have been directed at splitting the West and particularly at driving a wedge between Britain and it's allies.

The refugee elements at Geneva say this is an example of how the temptations of materialism often supersede professions of idealism and render the Western position less and less encouraging to the "captive" peoples who still hope for "liberation" with the aid of the moral force of the West.

Nikita—The Sly One

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The sly one is Nikita Khrushchev. He has everyone hopping and no one knows why.

What he said is well known, but not why he said it.

This is a fact apt to be obscured in all the millions of words coming out of the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

Those ministers, after almost three weeks of getting nowhere, flew here for John Foster Dulles' funeral. They flew back Thursday to resume their talks today.

But since the Western ministers only know what Premier Khrushchev demanded — demands that brought on the conference—but don't know why, they are really working in the dark.

Last Nov. 27 he called on the Western Allies to get their troops out of Berlin and sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Since then there have been all kinds of guesses as to his reason. But one thing is sure: With a few words he put the West on the defensive and it is still there.

When Khrushchev made his demands, he also indicated he was willing to back them up by a showdown with the West.

The West could have said: "All right, mister, show your muscle. You want trouble? Start it. We're not budging and we're not even going to discuss it. We're in Berlin and we stay there."

Instead, to avoid the showdown, the Western Allies agonized themselves for months on how to find some peaceful solution to the challenge Khrushchev raised. They finally proposed the Geneva conference to discuss Berlin and other things.

In the end, the Big Four may reach some minor agreement on Berlin, with the West making some concession in return for some Soviet concession.

But since Khrushchev started with nothing—the Allies were in Berlin—any concession from the West will be good horsetrading for him.

It's possible he never thought through his demands at all but simply made them to keep the West jumpy and off balance.

On Nov. 27 he gave the Allies six months to get their troops out of Berlin. They looked on that as a deadline, which would have been May 27. It excited them.

Later Khrushchev casually brushed aside the thought they had to be out of Berlin absolutely by May 27. He said he just picked the six months' idea off the ceiling. Maybe that's where he got his original idea, too.

Khrushchev may have the notion that if he can keep the West fully occupied somewhere — as in Berlin—it won't have time for, from his viewpoint, mischief somewhere else.

These were some of the guesses on why he raised the Berlin issue:

To gain recognition for the East German Communist regime and strengthen its grip on the East German people; to strengthen, if the West backed down on Berlin, the Soviet grip on the whole satellite world; to try, by this simple maneuver on Berlin, to split the Allies or probe a bit to see where divisions lay.

Since everything was quiet and he had nothing to start with, anything he gains out of his Berlin demands will be so much gravy.

Howard J. Donnelly, Wellsville auditor, grocer and civic leader, died suddenly at his home after a three-day illness.

TEN YEARS AGO — Midshipman Robert A. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Brown of the Lincoln Highway, was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

About 100 guests attended the dinner honoring the 30th anniversary of the ordination of Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Lavery, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

A Lesson In Land Restoration

Proper restoration of land scarred by strip coal mining is becoming an increasing concern in areas so affected.

Strip mining in itself, shorn of any sincere attempt to return the land to as near its original state as possible, is a thing to be sharply criticized in many respects. And in the past abandonment of stripped areas was the rule rather than the exception. The desecration of land deteriorated to the point where many state legislatures became alarmed and decided to do something about it. Ohio's General Assembly was among them.

We were with a group which toured stripped lands of the Ohio Power Co. in the southeastern part of the state this week. The dedicated efforts being made to restore the land were impressive.

It was with extreme interest, therefore, that we read in The Pittsburgh Press Wednesday night of similar restoration efforts near Burgettstown, Pa., in Washington County.

The writer was Roger Latham, a recognized authority on the outdoors. Mr. Latham's comments were concerned with reclamation work on land of the Harmon Creek Coal Corp. His remarks, which apply equally well to southeastern Ohio, included the following:

"What we saw being done proved that strip mining operations need not result in permanent, unsightly scars on the landscape. What we saw also proved that there are men still blessed with a feeling of moral responsibility to the generations of the future . . .

"Field after field has been planted to trees —both evergreens and hardwoods. Some of the pines are six and eight feet tall and someday will make valuable saw timber or other wood products. Other fields have been more recently planted. . .

"In other places with the judicious use of lime, there are green fields of clovers, grasses, lespedizas, trefoils and other pasture crops. These have been planted to secure the soil against erosion, to increase the fertility and to provide food for rabbits, deer and other wildlife . . .

"And nestled in one of the little valleys is a fine fishing lake, a completely unexpected delight to the visitor who has visions of only yellow acid waters . . ."

There is a lesson for all strip mine operators in the reclamation progress of the Ohio Power Co. and the Harmon Creek Coal Corp.

At Least No Bulls Are Tortured

It is easily possible to get into a slam-bang argument about the famous 500-mile race traditionally held on Memorial Day at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

But the argument is a waste of time, because those who are devoted to the Indianapolis classic are not going to be talked out of their enthusiasm any more than the critics of the race are going to be talked out of their disapproval.

In recent years it has ceased to be claimed that the event at Indianapolis is indispensable to the evolution of the automobile. It now is a straight-out sporting event, very much like a bullfight, except that no animals are tortured. The drivers take a calculated risk to put on a show for spectators. They are performing for money. They are professional chance-takers.

Many of them have been quoted from time to time to the effect they are not as frightened in an automobile race as they are when they must risk their lives in traffic under the hazard of being smashed by some fool who could not survive a single lap on the Indianapolis Speedway.

When the professional drivers risk their lives, they at least have the advantage of being in the company of men who know what they are doing. It is the only thing that makes auto racing feasible — the only thing that keeps it from being hopelessly dangerous.

If you must go somewhere in an automobile over the Memorial Day weekend, go in fear. You are doing something the survivors of the hazards at Indianapolis would not care to do under the circumstances.

A Fair Share Of Productivity

One of the wistful yearnings that has come out of steel-strike talk is for the Steelworkers to let wages stay were they are while management cuts the price of steel.

This would be justified, it is argued, by the high earnings of the steel industry in 1958—an off-year when tonnage was down and earnings were up.

This improved productivity durfng a time of large-scale unemployment in the industry was a significant indication of what automation holds in store for heavy industry. Already in Detroit the auto industry has been demonstrating how it can turn out more production with fewer employes.

Yet, in the main current of thought about industrial productivity, it is being assumed that only labor has any clear moral right to share in productivity's benefits. The chairman of General Electric Co., Ralph J. Cordiner, was talking about this sort of thing before the Economic Club of Detroit the other day.

He said it has been a mistake in the first place to tie wages to productivity, which was a variable factor and hard to determine. Wage costs, he suggested, should be tied to local circumstances, market conditions and the requirements of individual companies and industries.

Inflation, he pointed out, had been boosted by excessive pay increases based on questionable statistics about productivity in one particular unit of one particular industry—statistics that had no bearing on other units in other industries.

The real sources of higher productivity, in his opinion, are research, development, better materials, investments in better tools and facilities and new managerial concepts. He denied that people are working harder or even as hard as their grandfathers did.

In the clamor over who gets the benefit of productivity, the production worker has been prefered over the investor, the consumer and even over other workers whose essential services are not tied to a productivity statistic—teachers and other public employes, for example.

Mr. Cordiner's ideas are not likely to change any popular concepts about a fair share of productivity, but they shed new light on the root cause of inflation.

Our River Banks

The need for beautification of the city's river banks has been one of our pet peeves.

A trip through the upper Ohio Valley always serves to rekindle an interest in the program.

Down-river communities, such as Marietta and those on the smaller Muskingum River, apparently appreciate to the fullest the natural beauty that is theirs providing they are willing to raise a hand on its behalf.

Properly landscaped shore lines add greatly to civic beauty. The change here is not something that can occur overnight. It is a matter of long-range planning. If nothing else at the present, however, East Liverpool could see to it that its river banks are cleared of unsightly debris; that trees which block the view are trimmed, and that other possible improvements be started.

Until more money becomes available, nothing can be accomplished on a major scale. But, at least, steps could be launched in the direction of a general cleanup of the river area.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"Ike Plays Golf and Studies Herter Report," says a headline. That's one way to run up a golf score. Can you imagine going around a course with the last-minute data from Geneva? The President's routine must have run like this:

1. The President misses four putts following the paragraph in Herter's report: "If you think you're having trouble, look at me."

2. On the second hole he reads, "Gromyko still addresses the ball upside-down and insists the normal position is a crude challenge to world peace." Ike whiffs three drives.

3. Worry how to get out of a sandtrap. Ike hears Gromyko cry, "You must get out of West Berlin."

4. On the next hole, the President goes into the heavy rough and reads Herter's inquiry, "I'm in deeper than you. Should I pick up or continue against a player who steps on a ball, talks loudly on all tees and calls every scorecard but his own completely false?"

5. By this time, Gromyko has begun to figure in every backswing and Ike fancies he hears a cry of "Nyet!" every time he selects a club.

6. The caddie advises, "Keep your head down," but Ike can't get rid of the idea he hears Gromyko calling it a crude violation of international law.

7. "Relax. You're too tense," says a golfing partner. "There's only one cure," says Ike. "Put the Herter report on a wooden tee and let me play it instead of a golf ball."

Letters To The Editor

To the voters of the Stanton Local School District:

When you go to the polls on June 2 to vote on the proposed school bond issue being submitted by the Stanton Local Board of Education, there is a great deal more to be considered than the installation of toilets in the Hammondsville Elementary School (which is the only school in Jefferson County without inside toilets) and the construction of a new elementary school along the river front to replace the present buildings in Empire, Stratton and Port Homer.

You are going to vote on whether you wish to retain your school district or whether you want it broken up and parceled out to the adjoining districts. We have had handed to us the means whereby we can have the best in educational facilities that money can buy with the lowest tax rate in eastern Ohio. Up to this point, we have demonstrated as a district that we do not want it. We must look awful foolish in the eyes of our neighbors.

It is very difficult by any stretch of the imagination to understand how anyone with children could even think of opposing this bond issue. It is just as difficult to think how anyone who may be interested in taxes could think of opposing it. In fact it is hard to believe that any person once they understood the matter could ever oppose it.

There are many young men and women who are parents, as well as many others, who are able to see and fully realize the many advantages and opportunities that we have, and they are working very hard to win this election. They are interested in the welfare of the children of this district. The sad note about the whole matter is that some are not able or do not want to see it.

The board of education has placed the question fairly, honestly and clearly before you, and what to expect if this bond issue continues to be defeated. The board of education told you that your taxes would be lowered. The tax rate was cut 2.8 mills and further reductions are coming. The board of education told you that the bond levy for the proposed bond issue would be reduced to 2.5 mills, it has been reduced to 2.4 mills.

Proper educational facilities must be provided for the children in this area. We have two buildings that cannot meet the state standards on Sept. 1, 1959—one, an eight - grade - 41 - pupil - two-teacher school, and the only school like this in eastern Ohio. Someone is going to see that these children get the education to which they are entitled. We have been given the opportunity to do it, and at the same time share in all the benefits that the new power plant will provide.

If we as a district fail to do this, some other district will see that it is done and we will not have anything to say about it. I personally know the patience of higher educational officials is wearing out.

If we fail in our responsibilities and the district is broken up, will those who are opposing it assume the responsibility? They will not. They will scream first, louder and longer than any one else.

The time has come when we no longer can gamble with the welfare of our boys and girls in this school district. The time has come when we no longer can think in terms of prejudices and selfishness. Good "old-fashioned common sense" must prevail. Duty, pride and self respect must come first.

We must not close our eyes to the fact that certain individuals and forces within and outside our school district are determined to destroy this school district for reasons known only to themselves.

I have enough confidence and faith in the good citizens of the Stanton Local School District that they are not going to be so foolish as to let slip away from them the greatest opportunity that any school district in this part of the state has ever had. Certainly our boys and girls are worth a trip to the polls and a vote for the school bond issue. I am sure it will be the best investment you ever made.

C. P. HENDERSON
Superintendent Stanton Schools

To the mayor of Irondale, Quenton Henderson:

Would you explain to the public the statement made by you at the meeting in Stratton on April 28?

We might as well face the fact the high school would serve as an elementary school for Irondale and Hammondsville.

I don't consider you a School Board member. The letter you were referring to was directed to the Board of Education. I know where my neighbors live, the ones you have referred to in your letter. But they represent Irondale.

I would like to make it clear, I represent no one but myself. I look and think for myself. I'm not a front or yes man for anyone. I too would like to see the new elementary school, but in the proper site, not on this site.

I'm certainly interested in a good education for my seven children.

Strange World

Four to seven miles beneath the surface of the ocean lies a strange world which no man has ever visited.

It is a world of pitch - black darkness, near-freezing temperatures and pressures that range as high as 900 tons per square foot. A fraction of that pressure is enough to crush a block of wood to half size. Yet life not only exists, but thrives.

So far scientists know only a little about the strange creatures that inhabit these enormous depths. Indeed, it was not until a few years ago that they knew that life could survive under such terrifying conditions.

To be sure, scientists had long known about the extraordinary fish with fantastic shapes and luminous organs which live at a depth of perhaps 3,000 to 10,000 feet. But the floor of the ocean drops much deeper. In 1951 the British oceanographic vessel Challenger recorded a depth of 35,640 feet, about 200 miles southwest of Guam, in the Pacific Ocean's Mariana Trench.

The bottom of this trench lies father below sea level than Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, soars above it.

Super Supreme Soviet

By David Lawrence

GENEVA

News has emerged from reliable sources at Geneva that Premier Khrushchev has a plan to bring about the virtual annexation by the Soviet Union of all the "captive" states, including East Germany. They would become part of a super supreme Soviet in Moscow.

David Lawrence

This means that German reunification has never been and is not now a Soviet objective and that, for all practical purposes, the proposed "peace treaty" with the East German government is a camouflaged formula by which it is intended that the various countries in eastern Europe shall retain their "independence" but under a federated supergovernment managed by the Communist autocracy in the Kremlin.

There is already a consolidation on the economic side directed from Moscow but now it is planned to go further on the political side. This may be Khrushchev's answer to the European Common Market and to similar moves that look to a United States of Europe in the orbit of Western influence.

The Soviet plan was first hinted at in a recent speech by Khrushchev in Leipzig but now it has been confirmed in information coming out of the other countries under Soviet domination. One point stressed by the Soviet premier takes on added significance.

It is that there is, as he said the other day, no need for a definition of frontiers as between the smaller states of Eastern Europe. If all these countries are to be subservient to a common master in Moscow, why should they worry about borders?

THE NEW PLAN has certain military aspects. Thus, the Soviet army was not too happy with its mission in Hungary when it was ordered to crush the uprising there three years ago. Under the new setup, there would be an exchange of troops for police purposes.

Small numbers of troops would be sent from one area to another in mixed forces as police units, thereby overcoming any nationalistic difficulties. Also this would facilitate sending in Soviet troops to any point in case of the threat of an uprising or as a military demonstration against the West.

The idea is that, with no frontiers and with representation in a super-supreme Soviet, autonomy would remain but it would be a kind of integrated arrangement.

There will be denial by the Soviets always that this amounts to annexation. They will point to the existence of local governments. The hand - picked Parliaments would continue as an outer semblance of so-called independence. But the scheme could easily amount to a permanent abolition of actual spvereignty as in Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia.

Stalin originated the plan but Khrushchev is reported to be ready to put it into effect. In each country Communism is to be the accepted doctrine for social, economic and political life.

The maneuver to get started on the annexation plan is probably the real reason why the Soviet government stirred up the crisis over West Berlin.

It doesn't matter very much to Moscow if the Western Allies are granted a sop in the form of an "interim solution" for West Berlin. For this would keep things as they are and give the Soviets an excuse to deal with East Germany as a separate entity. Its membership in the new super - supreme Soviet would presumably be "voluntary" in the Communist sense.

MANY PEOPLE in the West who have been deliberately scared by the ultimatum demanding allied withdrawal from West Berlin will probably hail almost any disposition of this particular issue and will be tempted to forego any further pressure for German reunification. But the Soviet strategy will be exposed to have been a move in one direction to cover up an aggression in another direction.

Meanwhile, reports from the satellite countries indicate puzzlement as to why Great Britain, in the midst of the Foreign Ministers Conference, signed a trade treaty at Moscow. It is being asked what was so urgent about it that the British couldn't wait till the conference was over.

The Soviet tactics all along have been directed at splitting the West and particularly at driving a wedge between Britain and it's allies.

The refugee elements at Geneva say this is an example of how the temptations of materialism often supersede professions of idealism and render the Western position less and less encouraging to the "captive" peoples who still hope for "liberation" with the aid of the moral force of the West.

Nikita—The Sly One

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The sly one is Nikita Khrushchev. He has everyone hopping and no one knows why.

What he said is well known, but not why he said it.

This is a fact apt to be obscured in all the millions of words coming out of the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

Those ministers, after almost three weeks of getting nowhere, flew here for John Foster Dulles' funeral. They flew back Thursday to resume their talks today.

But since the Western ministers only know what Premier Khrushchev demanded — demands that brought on the conference—but don't know why, they are really working in the dark.

Last Nov. 27 he called on the Western Allies to get their troops out of Berlin and sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Since then there have been all kinds of guesses as to his reason. But one thing is sure: With a few words he put the West on the defensive and it is still there.

When Khrushchev made his demands, he also indicated he was willing to back them up by a showdown with the West.

The West could have said: "All right, mister, show your muscle. You want trouble? Start it. We're not budging and we're not even going to discuss it. We're in Berlin and we stay there."

Instead, to avoid the showdown, the Western Allies agonized themselves for months on how to find some peaceful solution to the challenge Khrushchev raised. They finally proposed the Geneva conference to discuss Berlin and other things.

In the end, the Big Four may reach some minor agreement on Berlin, with the West making some concession in return for some Soviet concession.

But since Khrushchev started with nothing—the Allies were in Berlin—any concession from the West will be good horsetrading for him.

It's possible he never thought through his demands at all but simply made them to keep the West jumpy and off balance.

On Nov. 27 he gave the Allies six months to get their troops out of Berlin. They looked on that as a deadline, which would have been May 27. It excited them.

Later Khrushchev casually brushed aside the thought they had to be out of Berlin absolutely by May 27. He said he just picked the six months' idea off the ceiling. Maybe that's where he got his original idea, too.

Khrushchev may have the notion that if he can keep the West fully occupied somewhere — as in Berlin—it won't have time for, from his viewpoint, mischief somewhere else.

These were some of the guesses on why he raised the Berlin issue:

To gain recognition for the East German Communist regime and strengthen its grip on the East German people; to strengthen, if the West backed down on Berlin, the Soviet grip on the whole satellite world; to try, by this simple maneuver on Berlin, to split the Allies or probe a bit to see where divisions lay.

Since everything was quiet and he had nothing to start with, anything he gains out of his Berlin demands will be so much gravy.

Meanest Thief Hits Again At Grave Blooms

The city's "meanest thief" struck again Thursday — taking more peonies destined for a grave for Memorial Day.

A W. 4th St. widow reported blooms taken from her yard yesterday and today another widow, Mrs. Ruth Rosignol, 721 Minerva St., said blooms she had been cultivating to adorn the graves of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, were taken during the night.

She had planned to leave the peonies on the stalks until late this afternoon, expecting they would remain fresh longer at the plot at Springhill Cemetery at Wellsville.

She added that a relative found that a peony plant on the burial plot had been taken sometime before Wednesday as another desecration.

In another case of such vandalism, Mrs. May McMillen of R. D. 2 said she placed two pots of flowers on the grave of her mother in the Calcutta United Presbyterian Cemetery Wednesday.

She returned Thursday to see if the burial lot was ready for Memorial Day and found the flowers had been cut off. The vandalism left Mrs. McMillen more than heartbroken — she said she had no money to replace the blooms.

Against Summit Talks

LONDON (AP) — The London News Chronicle claimed today that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is using all his wiles in an attempt to talk President Eisenhower out of a summit meeting. Nassau County Dist. Atty. Manuel Levine told newsmen that "our evidence indicates that O'Rourke is an important member of this conspiracy."

The local allegedly had a system of "labor fees" against owner-operators of juke boxes and coin-operated amusement devices on Long Island.

Meanest Thief Hits Again At Grave Blooms

The city's "meanest thief" struck again Thursday — taking more peonies destined for a grave for Memorial Day.

A W. 4th St. widow reported blooms taken from her yard yesterday and today another widow, Mrs. Ruth Rosignol, 721 Minerva St., said blooms she had been cultivating to adorn the graves of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, were taken during the night.

She had planned to leave the peonies on the stalks until late this afternoon, expecting they would remain fresh longer at the plot at Springhill Cemetery at Wellsville.

She added that a relative found that a peony plant on the burial plot had been taken sometime before Wednesday as another desecration.

In another case of such vandalism, Mrs. May McMillen of R. D. 2 said she placed two pots of flowers on the grave of her mother in the Calcutta United Presbyterian Cemetery Wednesday.

She returned Thursday to see if the burial lot was ready for Memorial Day and found the flowers had been cut off. The vandalism left Mrs. McMillen more than heartbroken — she said she had no money to replace the blooms.

● Pony Tail Baldness

Note to readers: Thanks for all the nice letters. As many questions as possible will be answered in this column, but for obvious reasons replies must be brief.

Q. "I am 14 and have developed a bald spot on my neck. The spot is quite noticeable when I fix my hair in a pony tail. What could cause this baldness?"—Mary.

A. Your pony tail may be responsible. Persistent and prolonged traction (pull) on scalp hair can produce baldness. Skin doctors often notice this patchy loss of hair in girls who wear pony tails. Try a different hair style and see if this won't help.

Q. "We often hear that science is trying to find a cure for arthritis, cancer, etc. Do scientists ever work on trying to find a cure for adhesions? I have suffered from adhesions for 17 years." — A Canadian reader.

A. Much experimental work has been done in trying to find an answer to this problem. A substance discovered several years ago showed promise in "dissolving" adhesions in laboratory animals but its use in humans is another matter. It can be used in some cases but not in others. Although surgeons are better able to prevent adhesions now than they were in former years, the problem of what to do when they form still looms large. Some people tend to develop adhesions to a greater extent than others. Surgery to loosen the parts that have grown together is considered when there is some interference with organ function. This often helps but the tissue may grow together again, forming more adhesions.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

● Pony Tail Baldness ● Adhesions

Note to readers: Thanks for all the nice letters. As many questions as possible will be answered in this column, but for obvious reasons replies must be brief.

Q. "I am 14 and have developed a bald spot on my neck. The spot is quite noticeable when I fix my hair in a pony tail. What could cause this baldness?"—Mary.

A. Your pony tail may be responsible. Persistent and prolonged traction (pull) on scalp hair can produce baldness. Skin doctors often notice this patchy loss of hair in girls who wear pony tails. Try a different hair style and see if this won't help.

Q. "We often hear that science is trying to find a cure for arthritis, cancer, etc. Do scientists ever work on trying to find a cure for adhesions? I have suffered from adhesions for 17 years." — A Canadian reader.

A. Much experimental work has been done in trying to find an answer to this problem. A substance discovered several years ago showed promise in "dissolving" adhesions in laboratory animals but its use in humans is another matter. It can be used in some cases but not in others. Although surgeons are better able to prevent adhesions now than they were in former years, the problem of what to do when they form still looms large. Some people tend to develop adhesions to a greater extent than others. Surgery to loosen the parts that have grown together is considered when there is some interference with organ function. This often helps but the tissue may grow together again, forming more adhesions.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This is a very embarrassing problem and we don't know what to do. Maybe you can help us.

My husband's aunt gave our three children checks at Easter time. This woman is well-to-do and makes quite a show of her worldly goods. When she presented the children with the checks ($50 each) she made quite a ceremony of it.

All three checks bounced last week and my husband and I don't know whether to mention it to his aunt or not. I realize we should not have held the checks so long before putting them through but we never anticipated this problem. What is your advice?— A. and P.

Dear A. and P.: It's most unlikely that your husband's rich aunt would give the kids rubber checks for Easter. Put the checks through again and give them a chance to clear.

If they fail to make the grade a second time, your husband should mention this to auntie and give her an opportunity to make some explanation. Perhaps she's changed banks or started a new checking account and depleted the old one intentionally.

Golden Silence

Dear Ann: My wife and I have been married two years. I think we're as happy as most married couples but something is bothering me. We seem to wind up in an argument over the least little thing. Most people converse; my wife argues.

There are times when I disagree with her but I find myself saying nothing or pretending to accept her point of view just to keep peace.

Now, I'm wondering if this is wise. In your opinion, what kind of man just sits there and lets things pass, in order to avoid a fight? — H.H.H.

-:-

Dear H. H. H.: A married one. Silence is the best defense against people who have open mouths and closed minds. Individuals who will take either side of any argument are never convinced — so save your breath to cool your soup.

Round 'n Round Table

Dear Ann: My children, 5 and 7 years of age, are poor eaters. It's my husband's fault, because he insists on scolding them at the dinner table. Both children are underweight and it worries me terribly.

I've asked him to please leave the children alone when they're at the table but he always finds something to yell about and we go through the same agonizing scenes every evening.

Last night I lost my temper and let him have it when he started to browbeat the children. He became furious and said I was undermining his attempts to discipline them. It turned into a free-for-all. The children ended up crying and they didn't eat a thing on their plates. What can be done about such a situation? — DISTRAUGHT MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Why not feed the children before Daddy gets home, for a week or so? This may reduce the tension in the family and break up the pattern of screaming during the evening meal.

Your husband is taking his frustrations out on his children. Ask the family doctor to explain to him what happens to the digestive system of a person who is forced to eat when he's upset. Perhaps when he hears from an authority that he's giving his children nervous stomachs, he'll stop it.

Confidentially

TO CONFUSED COED: Your girl friend is wrong. The state police cannot force a couple to marry if they drive together over the state line. The Mann Act is something quite different.

-:-

RESENTFUL: If your wife wants to put up with this "old biddy" one week out of the year, let her be the martyr. Make plans with the boys and ask her to include you out.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed, envelope.

Strike Closes McNicol Plant

A stalemate continued today in a strike called Wednesday at the D. E. McNicol China Co. plant in Clarksburg after wage contract negotiations broke down between management and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Employes are maintaining picket lines around the plant, which manufactures chinaware. They are represented by IBOP Local 99.

The IBOP said the negotiations broke off after the company agreed to match all the concessions granted by other chinaware producers in a recent contract — highlighted by an 8½-cent hourly "package" — but declined "to rectify work standards and other irregularities which they imposed upon their employes prior to the expiration of the present contract."

The union declared that changes instituted by the company meant an average reduction of 50 cents in the hourly wages of jiggermen. Any jiggermen who protested were discharged, the union declared.

The Parkersburg office of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service entered the negotiations at the last minute in an effort to avert a strike, but its intervention was futile, the union said. Leonard Greco of Beaver Falls, seventh vice president, headed the IBOP negotiators, aided by a three-member committee representing the local.

Dulles Leaves Bulk Of Estate To His Widow

NEW YORK (AP)—John Foster Dulles has left the bulk of his estate to his widow in his will filed Thursday in Surrogate's Court.

The former secretary of state, who died of cancer May 24, made specific bequests of more than a quarter of a million dollars. However, associates said it was too early to attempt an estimate of his total estate.

Under the will the estate eventually goes to two of the three Dulles children.

Dulles' Jesuit son, the Rev. Avery Dulles, was left only $5,000. But the will emphasized that this was "not because of lack of affection for him but because special circumstances in his case make further provision seem inappropriate and unnecessary."

Before Dulles entered government service, he was in the law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell here.

The will, dated July 25, 1958, bequeathed personal property, household effects and the bulk of his estate in trust to the widow, Mrs. Janet Avery Dulles.

Upon her death, income from half the trust goes to a daughter, Mrs. Lillias Dulles Henshaw of New York, who also received $10,000 outright.

The other half goes outright to Dulles' other son, John Watson Dulles, who receives an additional $100,000 under the will.

Dulles also bequeathed $10,000 to his alma mater, Princeton University, where he graduated in 1908.

Injuries Are Fatal

Highway Safety Drive Launched

Co-operating in a statewide campaign, the East Liverpool Fraternal Order of Police Lodge today touched off a highway safety campaign that will continue through Labor Day, aimed at cutting down the total of deaths and injuries in heavy summertime traffic.

Police Chief Americo Radeschi, left, and Mayor Fred P. Lawrence are shown preparing to attach to the bumper of one of the city's police cruisers a sample of the stickers the FOP will distribute to help publicize its campaign, sponsored statewide by the Ohio FOP.

The stickers read: "For Safety's Sake, Slow Down and Live. Stop For a Coffee Break."

The FOP lodge conducted a similar safety campaign here in 1958, also using the bumper placards.

Patrolman W. A. Devon, president of the FOP lodge, listed four "summer safety suggestions" in connection with the campaign. They are:

Stay alert on long trips. Stop for coffee every couple of hours, get out of the car, walk around and stretch your legs.

Keep night driving to a minimum. Be especially careful at dusk — the most dangerous driving time of the day.

Know and obey traffic laws. Last year, 62 per cent of all drivers involved in traffic fatalities were violating one or more laws.

Slow down and live. Speed is America's No. 1 highway killer.

"The driver with the 'it-can't-happen-to-me' attitude is the greatest menace on the road," Devon commented. "He drives too fast, he disregards traffic laws and he takes foolish chances. He is a potential murderer—of himself and others."

Wednesday all attended funeral services for former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Another plane, carrying Mrs. Herter and advisers to the secretary of state landed seven minutes ahead of that carrying the four foreign policy chiefs.

The conference in the clouds gave the Big Four the opportunity to come to grips in an informal atmosphere with the two issues expected to dominate the two weeks or so remaining of the Geneva negotiations — Berlin and a summit conference.

In an effort to make progress, the foreign ministers have agreed to meet in secret, with only two advisers each, instead of with batteries of aides who report all that is said to the press.

Diplomats said most or all of what happened in the secret talks would be kept secret, at least for a time.

Another private bargaining session was scheduled this afternoon at British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd's villa.

As their minimum price for a summit conference, U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Lloyd were reported pressing Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for Soviet agreement to lift the threat to West Berlin.

Informed sources said the Western three are demanding that the Soviet Union confirm the right of the United States, Britain and France to continue to exercise final authority in West Berlin and to maintain garrisons there with assured supply channels.

In return the Allies reportedly are offering to take steps to improve the atmosphere in Berlin from the Soviet viewpoint—meaning a halt to anti-Soviet intelligence and propaganda activity from West Berlin.

Before the foreign ministers recessed Tuesday to attend the funeral of John Foster Dulles, there was speculation among Western diplomats that the conference could be finished by June 5. There was talk today the sessions might continue a week beyond that date.

At the baccalaureate service Sunday night, the Rev. Russell C. Owens, pastor of the Grace United Presbyterian Church will give the sermon.

Strike Closes McNicol Plant

A stalemate continued today in a strike called Wednesday at the D. E. McNicol China Co. plant in Clarksburg after wage contract negotiations broke down between management and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Employes are maintaining picket lines around the plant, which manufactures chinaware. They are represented by IBOP Local 99.

The IBOP said the negotiations broke off after the company agreed to match all the concessions granted by other chinaware producers in a recent contract — highlighted by an 8½-cent hourly "package" — but declined "to rectify work standards and other irregularities which they imposed upon their employes prior to the expiration of the present contract."

The union declared that changes instituted by the company meant an average reduction of 50 cents in the hourly wages of jiggermen. Any jiggermen who protested were discharged, the union declared.

The Parkersburg office of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service entered the negotiations at the last minute in an effort to avert a strike, but its intervention was futile, the union said. Leonard Greco of Beaver Falls, seventh vice president, headed the IBOP negotiators, aided by a three-member committee representing the local.

Dulles Leaves Bulk Of Estate To His Widow

NEW YORK (AP)—John Foster Dulles has left the bulk of his estate to his widow in his will filed Thursday in Surrogate's Court.

The former secretary of state, who died of cancer May 24, made specific bequests of more than a quarter of a million dollars. However, associates said it was too early to attempt an estimate of his total estate.

Under the will the estate eventually goes to two of the three Dulles children.

Dulles' Jesuit son, the Rev. Avery Dulles, was left only $5,000. But the will emphasized that this was "not because of lack of affection for him but because special circumstances in his case make further provision seem inappropriate and unnecessary."

Before Dulles entered government service, he was in the law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell here.

The will, dated July 25, 1958, bequeathed personal property, household effects and the bulk of his estate in trust to the widow, Mrs. Janet Avery Dulles.

Upon her death, income from half the trust goes to a daughter, Mrs. Lillias Dulles Henshaw of New York, who also received $10,000 outright.

The other half goes outright to Dulles' other son, John Watson Dulles, who receives an additional $100,000 under the will.

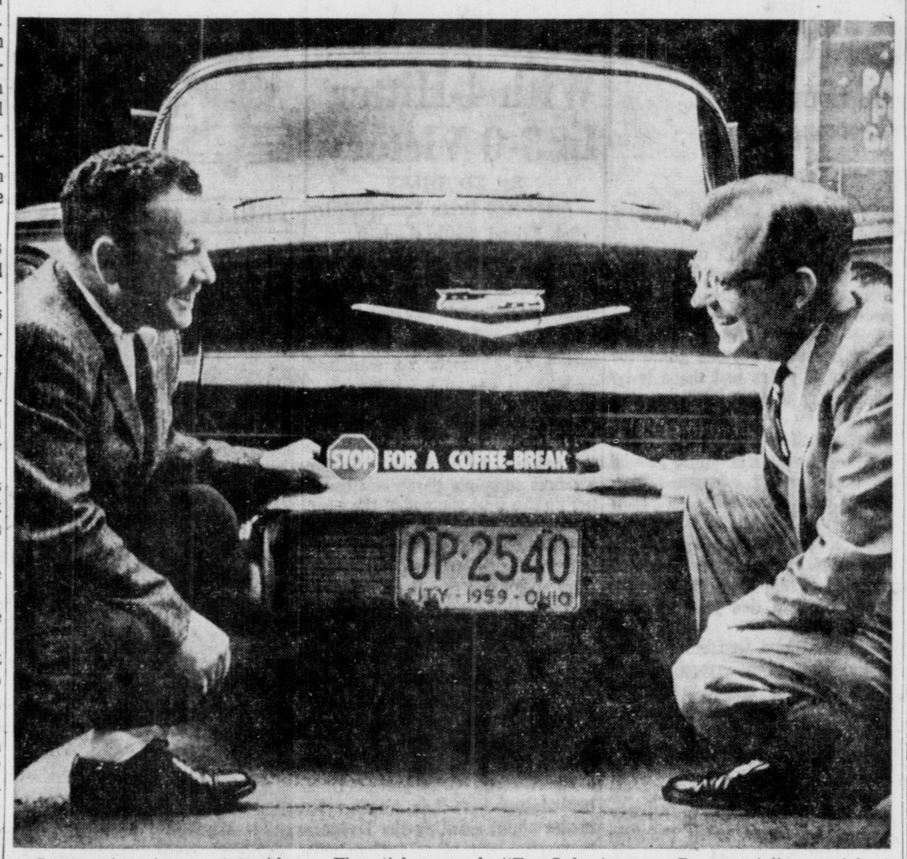

Dulles also bequeathed $10,000 to his alma mater, Princeton University, where he graduated in 1908.

Highway Safety Drive Launched

Co-operating in a statewide campaign, the East Liverpool Fraternal Order of Police Lodge today touched off a highway safety campaign that will continue through Labor Day, aimed at cutting down the total of deaths and injuries in heavy summertime traffic.

Police Chief Americo Radeschi, left, and Mayor Fred P. Lawrence are shown preparing to attach to the bumper of one of the city's police cruisers a sample of the stickers the FOP will distribute to help publicize its campaign, sponsored statewide by the Ohio FOP.

The stickers read: "For Safety's Sake, Slow Down and Live. Stop For a Coffee Break."

The FOP lodge conducted a similar safety campaign here in 1958, also using the bumper placards.

Patrolman W. A. Devon, president of the FOP lodge, listed four "summer safety suggestions" in connection with the campaign. They are:

Stay alert on long trips. Stop for coffee every couple of hours, get out of the car, walk around and stretch your legs.

Keep night driving to a minimum. Be especially careful at dusk — the most dangerous driving time of the day.

Know and obey traffic laws. Last year, 62 per cent of all drivers involved in traffic fatalities were violating one or more laws.

Slow down and live. Speed is America's No. 1 highway killer.

"The driver with the 'it-can't-happen-to-me' attitude is the greatest menace on the road," Devon commented. "He drives too fast, he disregards traffic laws and he takes foolish chances. He is a potential murderer—of himself and others."

Wednesday all attended funeral services for former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Another plane, carrying Mrs. Herter and advisers to the secretary of state landed seven minutes ahead of that carrying the four foreign policy chiefs.

The conference in the clouds gave the Big Four the opportunity to come to grips in an informal atmosphere with the two issues expected to dominate the two weeks or so remaining of the Geneva negotiations — Berlin and a summit conference.

In an effort to make progress, the foreign ministers have agreed to meet in secret, with only two advisers each, instead of with batteries of aides who report all that is said to the press.

Diplomats said most or all of what happened in the secret talks would be kept secret, at least for a time.

Another private bargaining session was scheduled this afternoon at British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd's villa.

As their minimum price for a summit conference, U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Lloyd were reported pressing Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for Soviet agreement to lift the threat to West Berlin.

Informed sources said the Western three are demanding that the Soviet Union confirm the right of the United States, Britain and France to continue to exercise final authority in West Berlin and to maintain garrisons there with assured supply channels.

In return the Allies reportedly are offering to take steps to improve the atmosphere in Berlin from the Soviet viewpoint—meaning a halt to anti-Soviet intelligence and propaganda activity from West Berlin.

Before the foreign ministers recessed Tuesday to attend the funeral of John Foster Dulles, there was speculation among Western diplomats that the conference could be finished by June 5. There was talk today the sessions might continue a week beyond that date.

The Sports Bench

Third Major League—Why? . . .

Tradition has helped make baseball the game it is today, but some are attempting to make changes in the national pastime which don't seem practical.

A third major league has been proposed by some of baseball's top executives, who believe the third league will be operating within five years.

One of the first questions at the meeting held last week in Columbus was: How about the players?

Commissioner Ford Frick replied that "the players will develop if you have the jobs tor them."

We feel the answer was inadequate. In our opinion, there aren't enough "good" players to go around the majors under the present 16-team setup.

And baseball players are only human. They get old too. The present stars can't go on forever.

Certainly, new players would develop, but they probably wouldn't be of the same caliber as those in the majors today and with the addition of a third major league, the minor leagues probably would fold.

The Triple A leagues always have served as the final stepping stone to the majors.

We also agree with a Cleveland sportswriter who opposed the idea of a second major league all-star game on the West Coast.

One all-star game is enough. There has been but one game for the past 25 years and there is no reason why it can't continue that way.

The practice always has been to move the all-star game around to each major league city. West Coast fans will get their turn to see the All-Stars perform.

We of the Pittsburgh area had to wait 14 years before the game returned to the Steel City, where it will be held this year on July 7.

The Cleveland writer made fun of the idea of a second all-star game. He was quoted as saying why not have the best two out of three series or better still three out of five or even best five out of nine all-star games.

He concluded by saying why not play the whole season of All-Star games and forget about the regular American and National League schedules.

Baseball has been doing fine, why not leave it alone.

Toncic Made Them Look Twice . . .

"HE'S ALWAYS thinking and he will find a way to beat you; and it will be a different way every time."

This is what Coach John Michelosen had to say about Midland's Ivan Toncic as spring football drills ended at the University of Pittsburgh.

In spring practice, Toncic was outstanding. He's still one of the top quarterbacks in the country.

When Toncic played at Midland High School, he was a good quarterback, but the college scouts didn't break down any doors to give him a scholarship.

"A few schools showed interest," Toncic recalled, "but not that many. A few of the small schools spoke to me, but I wanted to play at a larger school."

Pitt didn't show much interest in Toncic at first, but during the summer of 1956 the coaches changed their minds. They wanted Toncic and went after him.

The first pass Toncic threw in a college game was for a touchdown. Pitt trailed Oregon, 3-0, when Toncic hit end Art Gob with a pass with 22 seconds left.

Last year as a junior Toncic started off being a hero in the first game. He intercepted a pass against UCLA and returned it for a touchdown.

Against West Virginia, he intercepted a pass in the end zone on the last play of the game as Pitt came from behind to win, 15-8. He also threw two touchdown passes.

In the Army game, he threw the pass for the tying touchdown and then helped make a sensational tackle on a fourth-down play deep in Pitt territory.

In one game, he had a tooth knocked out. He picked it up and walked over to an official. "Please keep this for me, sir," Toncic said, "and I will get it after the game."

Bernie Allen Best At Purdue . . .

BEST AT PURDUE. Bernie Allen, the former Potter great, was named the "most valuable" baseball player for the season at Purdue University.

Only a sophomore, Bernie hit at a .372 clip to lead the team in batting. Seven of his 42 hits in 113 times at bat were home runs.

The Boilermaker star also led the squad in runs scored with 33 and was the runnerup in runs batted in with 34.

Bernie had more honors bestowed upon him when he was selected as shortstop on the second All-NCAA District 4 team.

Purdue ended the regular season with a split in a doubleheader at Ohio State last weekend. The Boilermakers had an 18-11 record for the season.

Bernie enjoyed his best day at the plate for Purdue last week against Indiana when he drove in all four runs with two homers and a single.

Bernie also received a varsity letter in football where he will be vying for the quarterback job come next fall.

Preview Set For Sept. 11 . . .

THE BLUE and White Nonpareil Club has an eight-team football preview set up Sept. 11 at Patterson Field.

Ed Hester and Dick Forzano are co-chairmen of the annual event.

Pairings were made earlier this week and top billing went to the Salem-Lisbon clash. This game will pair two old county rivals.

East Liverpool is scheduled to meet Leetonia, while Wellsville will play Columbiana and Toronto is set against Beaver Local.

Fans will see eight more minutes of action this year. The Ohio High School Athletic Association has moved the quarters in previews from eight to 12 minutes.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

RED PROMOTED. Charles (Red) Donley, well-known area sportscaster of WSTV, Channel 9, Steubenville, has been named vice president of the station, effective Monday. Donley will continue in his present post and also will be in charge of public relations and special events.

DICK MCKERNAN, a former Potter and City League hurler, received the most valuable athlete trophy from his fraternity — Alpha Sigma Phi — this week at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea.

Yanks-Bosox Deal Brewing

BOSTON (AP) — Two local newspapers today reported the Boston Redsox and New York Yankees are moving close to a major trade involving Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald, Jackie Jensen and Frank Sullivan.

The Boston Globe and the American both pegged the rumored multi-player deal.

The Globe quoted an unidentified Yankee player as saying talk is sweeping through the club. The player reportedly named Bauer, McDougald and pitchers Duke Maas and Bobby Shantz as the New Yorkers who may be swapped for Boston's Jensen, 1958 most valuable player in the American League. Vic Wertz plus pitchers Sullivan and Leo Kiely.

Sam Snead not only has won his own golf event, the Sam Snead Festival, five times, but has also finished or tied for second place four times.

Stops Braves With 4-Hitter In 3-0 Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Friend finally made it.

Last year no pitcher in the majors won more than the husky righthander who became Pittsburgh's biggest winner in 30 years with a 22-14 record. Yet somehow he couldn't win even one this year through 10 starts that let him an 0-7 record.

Thursday, he made it, pitching his first complete game and hanging up the first shutout of the year by the Pirates' staff with a four-hitter that beat Milwaukee's National League leading Braves 3-0.

By salvaging the final game of a series that opened with Harvey Haddix' heart-breaking 1-0 defeat Tuesday night, the Pirates reclaimed third place, 4½ games behind the Braves. They also shaved Milwaukee's lead to two games over the San Francisco Giants, who beat St. Louis 5-4.

The Chicago Cubs battled from behind and beat Los Angeles 7-5 in the ninth, skidding the Dodgers to fourth. Last place Philadelphia spiked Cincinnati's bid to quit the second division by beating the Reds 4-3.

In the American League, Kansas City rapped first place Cleveland 7-2, trimming the Indians' lead to a half-game over the Chicago White Sox, whose game with Detroit was rained out. Third place Baltimore whipped New York 5-0 as Hoyt Wilhelm again shut out the Yankees. Boston beat Washington 3-1 on the two-hit pitching of Frank Sullivan.

The Cubs, who fell behind 3-1 in the first inning as the Dodgers chased starter Seth Morehead, took the lead 5-4 in the seventh on Ernie Banks' three-run homer, his 12th. The Dodgers tied it in their seventh then three walks, the last an intentional pass to Banks, set up Walt Moryn's winning two-run single in the ninth against losing reliever Art Fowler (3-3).

Dave Hillman (3-3), who fanned 11 in 7 2-3 innings of relief was the winner with a ninth-inning save by Don Elston.

Potters Savings Gains 26-6 Win In Minor League

Potters Savings and Loan pounded out a 26-6 victory over the Elks Thursday in the lone Little Minor League game. Two other games were scheduled but postponed because of wet grounds.

Rain Hampers City's Baseball Slate Again

Rain continued to hamper the city's baseball action as games in the Little League, Pony League and Minor Little League were postponed for the second straight night. The only game played Thursday was the Potters Savings and Loan-Elks contest in the Little Minor League.

Two of three Little League games rained out Thursday night have been re-scheduled. The Chester Legion-Medics contest will be played tonight at Thompson Park field while the Golden Star-Milliron contest has been set for Monday at Columbian Park.

Moore held the Elks to just four hits while his mates were scoring 26 runs.

Chapman had a perfect night at the plate for the winners when he stroked six hits in the same number of times to the plate.

Haniotis and Prentiss each had three safeties for the winners.

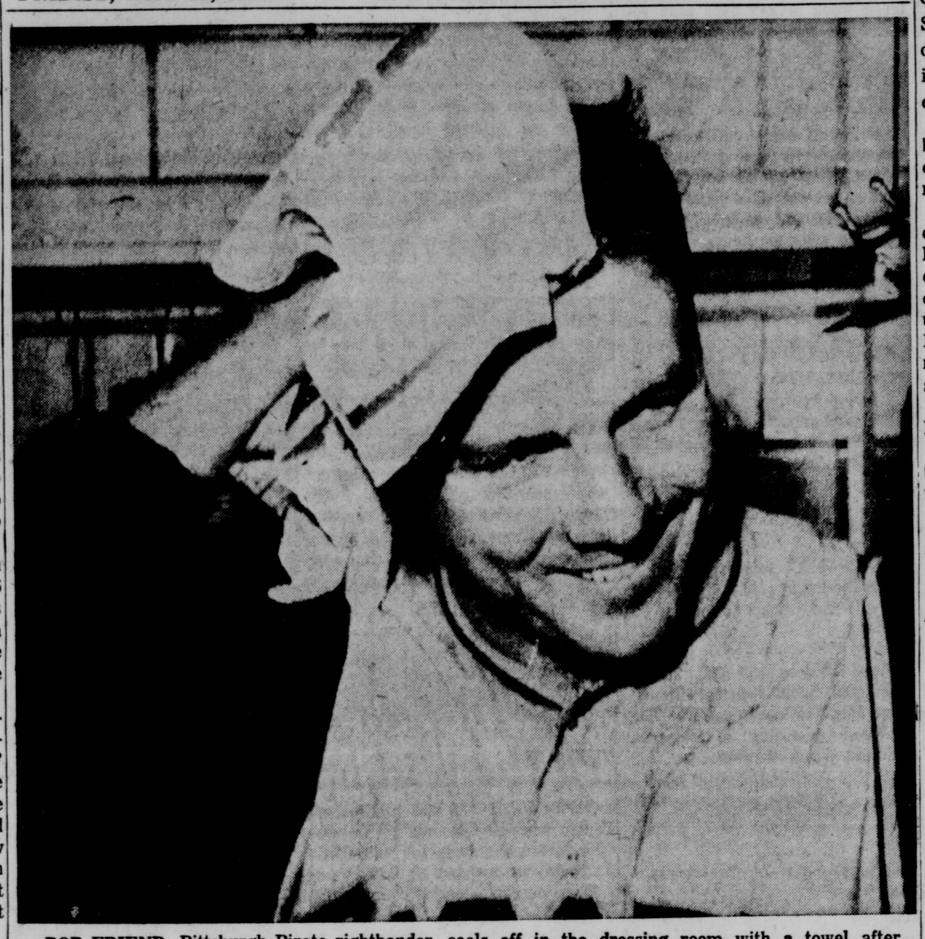

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Bob Friend, Pirates, gained his first victory of the season and Pittsburgh's first shutout by blanking the Braves 3-0 on four singles.

Hitting — Bill Tuttle, Athletics, had four hits in five at-bats, one a two-run homer, and drove in three runs in 7-2 victory over the Indians.

Weirton Faces East Bank For State Baseball Title

PARKERSBURG (AP)—East Bank took a brilliant 23-1 record against Weirton today in an attempt to bag its fifth state high school baseball championship.

The Pioneers, coached by fiery Joe Butta, beat Philippi here yesterday, 3-1, after Weirton blanked Princeton, 6-0, in the opening game of the state tournament.

"I know they beat us in 1950," Butta commented about his meeting the Red Riders in the state finals.

East Bank won the championship in 1941, 1951, 1952 and 1957, the last three times under Butta. Weirton grabbed the title twice, in 1945 and 1950.

Nobody knew who would be Weirton's pitcher today. Mike Tomasovich, the Red Riders mound ace, shut out Princeton on two hits yesterday and struck out 10 batters.

East Bank's Johnny Brace likewise pitched a two-hitter to beat Philippi and stretched his record to nine victories in 10 decisions.

The Pioneers were expected to have Reggie Daniels or Larry Tincher, both 5-0, on the mound today.

Princeton took a 10-game winning streak into the tourney and finished its competition with a 10-4 mark. Philippi's Bulldogs finished with a 12-2 record.

Weirton spurted for three runs on three hits, three walks and three errors to sew up yesterday's opener in the fourth inning.

Infielder John Ritchie banged out three hits for Weirton and Tomasovich had two. Princeton committed eight errors to make the Riders' task much easier as they bettered their record to 16-2.

Rain held up the Weirton-Princeton game for an hour and 10 minutes and left Scott Field muddy.

East Bank needed two unearned runs in the sixth to beat Philippi.

Duffy Kirk walked, Jerry Deal singled and Brace was walked on purpose to load the bases for the Pioneers. Danny Burgess grounded sharply to second baseman John Jones, but the Philippi infielder threw wildly to home plate to force out Kirk and two runs scored.

Bulldogs' pitcher Gary Curkendall socked a single for the first hit of the game in the fourth inning and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Gene Zara.

Brace responded by getting East Bank's first hit in the fifth. He stole second and continued to third on a wild throw by the catcher. Aubrey Thompson delivered a ground single to score Brace after two men were out.

Dick Barton's seventh inning single was the only other hit off of Brace, but the Pioneers got only four off Curkendall.

Bob Goalby's 64 Leads Kentucky Derby Open By 2

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bob Goalby says his putter has been working better for him in recent weeks and his performances bear out the statement.

The Belleville, Ill., golfer who plays out of Crystal Rivers, Fla., used only 24 putts Thursday in shooting a 31-33—64 or a two-stroke first round lead in the third annual Kentucky Derby Open.

Goalby's seven-under-par round in sunny weather broke the Derby Open record of 65 set in 1957 by Julius Boros.

Last week the 28-year-old Goalby had a 63 in the Memphis Open, but it was washed out by rain. If the round had counted, he would have won the tournament by three strokes.

Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., finished earlier in the day with a 34-32—66, which held up for second place in the 94-man field.

Seven players were bunched at 69 with 10 at 70 and 15 at par 71.

Fellow Countryman 'Hurts' Royals, 3-2

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Royals are hurting today down in the International League's fifth place — and the pangs came from a fellow-countryman.

Tom Burgess, a London, Ont., native, did them in Thursday night as his Columbus Jets edged the Royals 3-2 in one of two IL games. Toronto defeated Richmond 6-5 in the only other game scheduled.

Burgess, in his sixth IL campaign, drove in all three of Columbus's runs with a two-run, eighth inning homer, and a run-scoring double in the fourth. He also had a single in four at bats.

Cincinnati Manager Mayo Smith calls rookie Vada Pinson "a Richie Ashburn with power." Smith managed Ashburn while with the Phillies.

Positively Title Fight Will Go On, D'Amato Declares

NEW YORK (AP) — Peace, at last, settled on the troubled Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight promotion.

Manager Cus D'Amato says his champion positively will risk his crown against Johansson, the undefeated challenger from Sweden, at Yankee Stadium, June 25.

His statement came after promoter Bill Rosensohn had blasted him in the newspapers and on radio and television.

Rosensohn had charged that D'Amato told him he was thinking of moving the fight out of New York. The manager was angry at the New York Athletic Commission's action in rejecting luncheonette owner Harry Davidow's application to become the "10 per cent" manager of Johansson.

Traditional Start Set For '500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Officials of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and U.S. Auto Club today called together the 33 drivers in Saturday's 500-mile auto race to explain the "old-fashioned" start.

The traditional formation will be restored after two hectic and costly prologues to the world's richest auto contest.

Under the old system, the 33 cars were lined up at the starting line with dead engines. Then the engines were started and the racers slowly followed the pace car until they were in proper positions. If the alignment was good, the race was on when they hit the starting line.

Saturday there will be an extra lap—two in all.

A car plunged into the pits in the 1956 race, badly injuring a crewman. The speedway then moved the pits away from the track edge and into the infield, separated from the track by a concrete wall and an access strip.

Speedway cars do not have self-starters and it was thought the problem of moving portable starters off the track would make the old start impractical. For two years, the cars have stayed in the pits, with drivers expected to drive onto the track and take positions behind the moving pace car.

Two years ago, two cars tangled in the parade lap and were out of the race. Last year, the first three cars got away ahead of the pace car. After an extra parade lap, they finally got in line—and then 15 cars banged together on the first official lap, killing driver Pat O'Connor.

Friend Was Wondering If He Would Win Again

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The most baffling losing streak of the National League season is ended. Bob Friend owns his first victory of 1959.

The veteran right-hander hurled his first complete game in 11 starts Thursday while blanking the first place Milwaukee Braves 3-0 with a masterful four-hitter.

"Thank goodness that's over," Friend sighed. "After seven straight losses I was wondering if I'd ever win another one. But I think I've regained the winning touch."

Friend's victories last season tied him with the Braves' Warren Spahn for top winning honors.

"I've been snake-bit for six weeks," Friend said. "I started pressing and that's been a big part of my trouble.

"However, I think I actually ended the jinx last Sunday against Cincinnati. I only went eight innings and didn't win the game, but I felt more relaxed. The feeling carried over against the Braves."

Third Major League–Why? . . .

Tradition has helped make baseball the game it is today, but some are attempting to make changes in the national pastime which don't seem practical.

A third major league has been proposed by some of baseball's top executives, who believe the third league will be operating within five years.

One of the first questions at the meeting held last week in Columbus was: How about the players?

Commissioner Ford Frick replied that "the players will develop if you have the jobs tor them."

We feel the answer was inadequate. In our opinion, there aren't enough "good" players to go around the majors under the present 16-team setup.

And baseball players are only human. They get old too. The present stars can't go on forever.

Certainly, new players would develop, but they probably wouldn't be of the same caliber as those in the majors today and with the addition of a third major league, the minor leagues probably would fold.

The Triple A leagues always have served as the final stepping stone to the majors.

We also agree with a Cleveland sportswriter who opposed the idea of a second major league all-star game on the West Coast.

One all-star game is enough. There has been but one game for the past 25 years and there is no reason why it can't continue that way.

The practice always has been to move the all-star game around to each major league city. West Coast fans will get their turn to see the All-Stars perform.

We of the Pittsburgh area had to wait 14 years before the game returned to the Steel City, where it will be held this year on July 7.

The Cleveland writer made fun of the idea of a second all-star game. He was quoted as saying why not have the best two out of three series or better still three out of five or even best five out of nine all-star games.

He concluded by saying why not play the whole season of All-Star games and forget about the regular American and National League schedules.

Baseball has been doing fine, why not leave it alone.

Toncic Made Them Look Twice . . .

"HE'S ALWAYS thinking and he will find a way to beat you; and it will be a different way every time."

This is what Coach John Michelosen had to say about Midland's Ivan Toncic as spring football drills ended at the University of Pittsburgh.

In spring practice, Toncic was outstanding. He's still one of the top quarterbacks in the country.

When Toncic played at Midland High School, he was a good quarterback, but the college scouts didn't break down any doors to give him a scholarship.

"A few schools showed interest," Toncic recalled, "but not that many. A few of the small schools spoke to me, but I wanted to play at a larger school."

Pitt didn't show much interest in Toncic at first, but during the summer of 1956 the coaches changed their minds. They wanted Toncic and went after him.

The first pass Toncic threw in a college game was for a touchdown. Pitt trailed Oregon, 3-0, when Toncic hit end Art Gob with a pass with 22 seconds left.

Last year as a junior Toncic started off being a hero in the first game. He intercepted a pass against UCLA and returned it for a touchdown.

Against West Virginia, he intercepted a pass in the end zone on the last play of the game as Pitt came from behind to win, 15-8. He also threw two touchdown passes.

In the Army game, he threw the pass for the tying touchdown and then helped make a sensational tackle on a fourth-down play deep in Pitt territory.

In one game, he had a tooth knocked out. He picked it up and walked over to an official. "Please keep this for me, sir," Toncic said, "and I will get it after the game."

Bernie Allen Best At Purdue . . .

BEST AT PURDUE. Bernie Allen, the former Potter great, was named the "most valuable" baseball player for the season at Purdue University.

Only a sophomore, Bernie hit at a .372 clip to lead the team in batting. Seven of his 42 hits in 113 times at bat were home runs.

The Boilermaker star also led the squad in runs scored with 33 and was the runnerup in runs batted in with 34.

Bernie had more honors bestowed upon him when he was selected as shortstop on the second All-NCAA District 4 team.

Purdue ended the regular season with a split in a doubleheader at Ohio State last weekend. The Boilermakers had an 18-11 record for the season.

Bernie enjoyed his best day at the plate for Purdue last week against Indiana when he drove in all four runs with two homers and a single.

Bernie also received a varsity letter in football where he will be vying for the quarterback job come next fall.

Preview Set For Sept. 11 . . .

THE BLUE and White Nonpareil Club has an eight-team football preview set up Sept. 11 at Patterson Field.

Ed Hester and Dick Forzano are co-chairmen of the annual event.

Pairings were made earlier this week and top billing went to the Salem-Lisbon clash. This game will pair two old county rivals.

East Liverpool is scheduled to meet Leetonia, while Wellsville will play Columbiana and Toronto is set against Beaver Local.

Fans will see eight more minutes of action this year. The Ohio High School Athletic Association has moved the quarters in previews from eight to 12 minutes.

Friend Will Remember First Win Of 1959

Stops Braves With 4-Hitter In 3-0 Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Friend finally made it.

Last year no pitcher in the majors won more than the husky righthander who became Pittsburgh's biggest winner in 30 years with a 22-14 record. Yet somehow he couldn't win even one this year through 10 starts that let him an 0-7 record.

Thursday, he made it, pitching his first complete game and hanging up the first shutout of the year by the Pirates' staff with a four-hitter that beat Milwaukee's National League leading Braves 3-0.

By salvaging the final game of a series that opened with Harvey Haddix' heart-breaking 1-0 defeat Tuesday night, the Pirates reclaimed third place, 4½ games behind the Braves. They also shaved Milwaukee's lead to two games over the San Francisco Giants, who beat St. Louis 5-4.

The Chicago Cubs battled from behind and beat Los Angeles 7-5 in the ninth, skidding the Dodgers to fourth. Last place Philadelphia spiked Cincinnati's bid to quit the second division by beating the Reds 4-3.

In the American League, Kansas City rapped first place Cleveland 7-2, trimming the Indians' lead to a half-game over the Chicago White Sox, whose game with Detroit was rained out. Third place Baltimore whipped New York 5-0 as Hoyt Wilhelm again shut out the Yankees. Boston beat Washington 3-1 on the two-hit pitching of Frank Sullivan.

The Cubs, who fell behind 3-1 in the first inning as the Dodgers chased starter Seth Morehead, took the lead 5-4 in the seventh on Ernie Banks' three-run homer, his 12th. The Dodgers tied it in their seventh then three walks, the last an intentional pass to Banks, set up Walt Moryn's winning two-run single in the ninth against losing reliever Art Fowler (3-3).

Dave Hillman (3-3), who fanned 11 in 7 2-3 innings of relief was the winner with a ninth-inning save by Don Elston.

Potters Savings Gains 26-6 Win In Minor League

Potters Savings and Loan pounded out a 26-6 victory over the Elks Thursday in the lone Little Minor League game. Two other games were scheduled but postponed because of wet grounds.

Rain Hampers City's Baseball Slate Again

Rain continued to hamper the city's baseball action as games in the Little League, Pony League and Minor Little League were postponed for the second straight night. The only game played Thursday was the Potters Savings and Loan-Elks contest in the Little Minor League.

Two of three Little League games rained out Thursday night have been re-scheduled. The Chester Legion-Medics contest will be played tonight at Thompson Park field while the Golden Star-Milliron contest has been set for Monday at Columbian Park.

Moore held the Elks to just four hits while his mates were scoring 26 runs.

Chapman had a perfect night at the plate for the winners when he stroked six hits in the same number of times to the plate.

Haniotis and Prentiss each had three safeties for the winners.

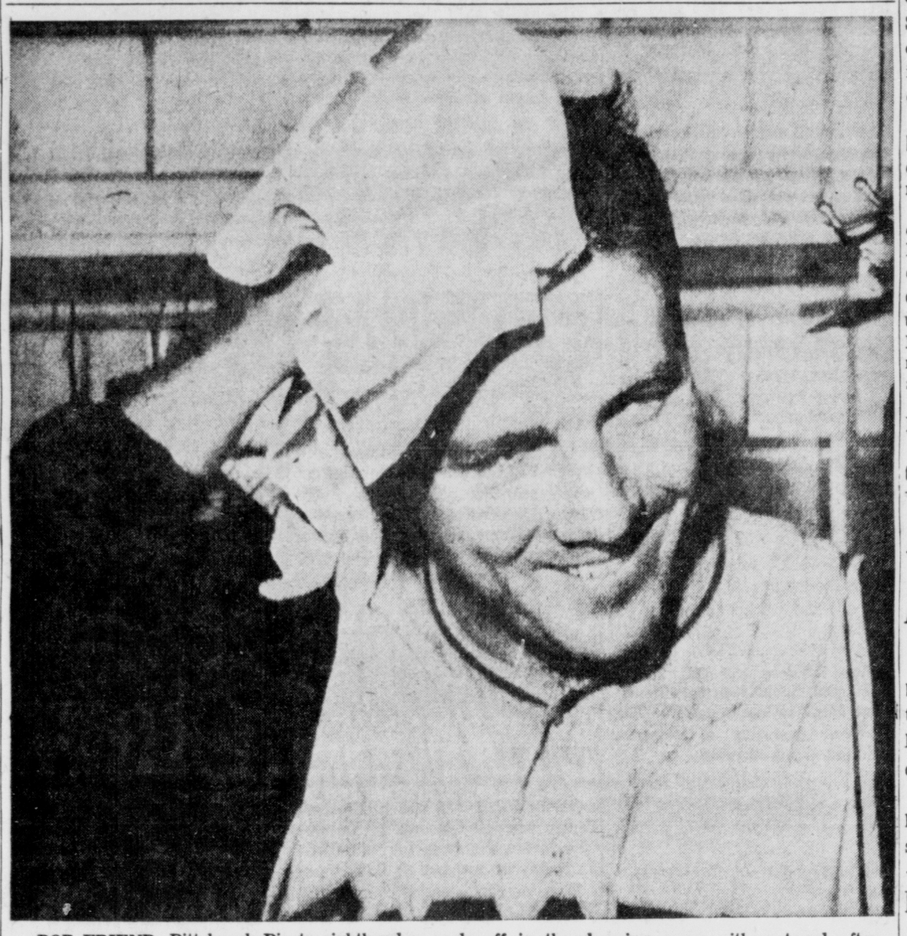

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Bob Friend, Pirates, gained his first victory of the season and Pittsburgh's first shutout by blanking the Braves 3-0 on four singles.

Hitting — Bill Tuttle, Athletics, had four hits in five at-bats, one a two-run homer, and drove in three runs in 7-2 victory over the Indians.

Weirton Faces East Bank For State Baseball Title

PARKERSBURG (AP)—East Bank took a brilliant 23-1 record against Weirton today in an attempt to bag its fifth state high school baseball championship.

The Pioneers, coached by fiery Joe Butta, beat Philippi here yesterday, 3-1, after Weirton blanked Princeton, 6-0, in the opening game of the state tournament.

"I know they beat us in 1950," Butta commented about his meeting the Red Riders in the state finals.

East Bank won the championship in 1941, 1951, 1952 and 1957, the last three times under Butta. Weirton grabbed the title twice, in 1945 and 1950.

Nobody knew who would be Weirton's pitcher today. Mike Tomasovich, the Red Riders mound ace, shut out Princeton on two hits yesterday and struck out 10 batters.

East Bank's Johnny Brace likewise pitched a two-hitter to beat Philippi and stretched his record to nine victories in 10 decisions.

The Pioneers were expected to have Reggie Daniels or Larry Tincher, both 5-0, on the mound today.

Princeton took a 10-game winning streak into the tourney and finished its competition with a 10-4 mark. Philippi's Bulldogs finished with a 12-2 record.

Weirton spurted for three runs on three hits, three walks and three errors to sew up yesterday's opener in the fourth inning.

Infielder John Ritchie banged out three hits for Weirton and Tomasovich had two. Princeton committed eight errors to make the Riders' task much easier as they bettered their record to 16-2.

Rain held up the Weirton-Princeton game for an hour and 10 minutes and left Scott Field muddy.

East Bank needed two unearned runs in the sixth to beat Philippi.

Duffy Kirk walked, Jerry Deal singled and Brace was walked on purpose to load the bases for the Pioneers. Danny Burgess grounded sharply to second baseman John Jones, but the Philippi infielder threw wildly to home plate to force out Kirk and two runs scored.

Bulldogs' pitcher Gary Curkendall socked a single for the first hit of the game in the fourth inning and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Gene Zara.

Brace responded by getting East Bank's first hit in the fifth. He stole second and continued to third on a wild throw by the catcher. Aubrey Thompson delivered a ground single to score Brace after two men were out.

Dick Barton's seventh inning single was the only other hit off of Brace, but the Pioneers got only four off Curkendall.

Bob Goalby's 64 Leads Kentucky Derby Open By 2

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bob Goalby says his putter has been working better for him in recent weeks and his performances bear out the statement.

The Belleville, Ill., golfer who plays out of Crystal Rivers, Fla., used only 24 putts Thursday in shooting a 31-33—64 or a two-stroke first round lead in the third annual Kentucky Derby Open.

Goalby's seven-under-par round in sunny weather broke the Derby Open record of 65 set in 1957 by Julius Boros.

Last week the 28-year-old Goalby had a 63 in the Memphis Open, but it was washed out by rain. If the round had counted, he would have won the tournament by three strokes.

Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., finished earlier in the day with a 34-32—66, which held up for second place in the 94-man field.

Seven players were bunched at 69 with 10 at 70 and 15 at par 71.

BOSTON (AP) — Two local newspapers today reported the Boston Redsox and New York Yankees are moving close to a major trade involving Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald, Jackie Jensen and Frank Sullivan.

The Boston Globe and the American both pegged the rumored multi-player deal.

The Globe quoted an unidentified Yankee player as saying talk is sweeping through the club. The player reportedly named Bauer, McDougald and pitchers Duke Maas and Bobby Shantz as the New Yorkers who may be swapped for Boston's Jensen, 1958 most valuable player in the American League. Vic Wertz plus pitchers Sullivan and Leo Kiely.

Traditional Start Set For '500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Officials of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and U.S. Auto Club today called together the 33 drivers in Saturday's 500-mile auto race to explain the "old-fashioned" start.

The traditional formation will be restored after two hectic and costly prologues to the world's richest auto contest.

Under the old system, the 33 cars were lined up at the starting line with dead engines. Then the engines were started and the racers slowly followed the pace car until they were in proper positions. If the alignment was good, the race was on when they hit the starting line.

Saturday there will be an extra lap—two in all.

A car plunged into the pits in the 1956 race, badly injuring a crewman. The speedway then moved the pits away from the track edge and into the infield, separated from the track by a concrete wall and an access strip.

Speedway cars do not have self-starters and it was thought the problem of moving portable starters off the track would make the old start impractical. For two years, the cars have stayed in the pits, with drivers expected to drive onto the track and take positions behind the moving pace car.

Two years ago, two cars tangled in the parade lap and were out of the race. Last year, the first three cars got away ahead of the pace car. After an extra parade lap, they finally got in line—and then 15 cars banged together on the first official lap, killing driver Pat O'Connor.

Friend Was Wondering If He Would Win Again

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The most baffling losing streak of the National League season is ended. Bob Friend owns his first victory of 1959.

The veteran right-hander hurled his first complete game in 11 starts Thursday while blanking the first place Milwaukee Braves 3-0 with a masterful four-hitter.

"Thank goodness that's over," Friend sighed. "After seven straight losses I was wondering if I'd ever win another one. But I think I've regained the winning touch."

Friend's victories last season tied him with the Braves' Warren Spahn for top winning honors.

"I've been snake-bit for six weeks," Friend said. "I started pressing and that's been a big part of my trouble.

"However, I think I actually ended the jinx last Sunday against Cincinnati. I only went eight innings and didn't win the game, but I felt more relaxed. The feeling carried over against the Braves."

Knuckleballing Hoyt Wilhelm Shuts Out New York, 5-0

Gains Seventh Straight Victory For Baltimore

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Time was when Bud Daley was just "the other guy" in player trades. Now he's the sturdy Kansas City southpaw who has allowed just two runs while knocking off American League leading Cleveland and runner-up Chicago in his last two starts.

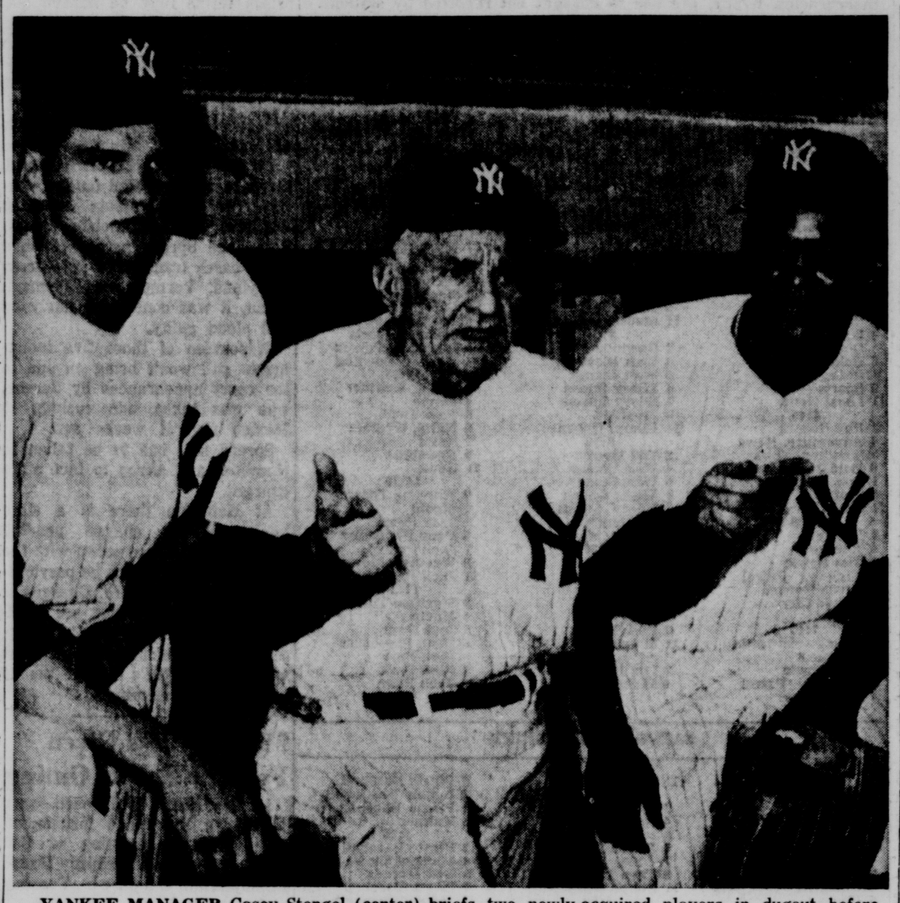

Daley, a lefty because his right hand was injured at birth, got his chance as a starter two weeks ago, only to lose 3-2 at New York after pitching a three-hit shutout for eight innings.

Thursday night he made his third start and followed up Saturday's four-hit shutout (16-0) over Chicago with a 7-2 breeze against Cleveland that sliced the Indians' lead to a half-game and hoisted the A's into fourth place.

The White Sox closed in although their meeting with Detroit was rained out with the Tigers at bat in the second inning of a scoreless game at Chicago. Third place Baltimore moved within 1½ games of the lead as unbeaten Hoyt Wilhelm stretched his scoreless inning string to 22 with his second straight shutout over New York, winning 5-0 with a four-hitter. Boston tied Detroit for sixth by beating Washington 3-1 on Frank Sullivan's two-hitter.

In the National League, Bob Friend finally won his first, four-hitting Milwaukee for a 3-0 Pittsburgh victory that cut the Braves' lead to two games after San Francisco deeated St. Louis 5-4. The Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-5 and Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati 4-3.

Wilhelm (7-0), the knuckleballing right-hander who has won eight in a row starting with last September's no-hitter against the Yankees, gave up nothing but singles while striking out six and walking five. The Orioles scored twice in the first inning, on a walk, Whitey Lockman's double and Wille Tasby's single, against loser Ralph Terry (2-5) in his first appearance since rejoining the Yankees. Woodling hit a two-run homer for the Orioles.

A's Pound Out 14-Hits In 7-2 Win Over Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—It won't be by much, but the Cleveland Indians will go into Saturday's Memorial Day doubleheader—the traditional first quarter mark of the season—with a first place lead in the American League.

The Kansas City Athletics, opponents in the holiday twin-bill, clobbered five Indian pitchers for 14 hits en route to a 7-2 victory Thursday night.

The loss cut the Tribe's margin to a half game over the Chicago White Sox, who were rained out of a game with Detroit.

Idle today, the Indians will send their righty-lefty mound punch against the Athletics Saturday. Right-hander Cal McLish (5-1) and southpaw Herb Score (4-2) are scheduled to face Rip Coleman and Johnny Kucks, the former Yankee hurler.

Bill Tuttle was the A's hitting star with three singles, a home run and three RBIs. Bud Daley, the pitcher, also knocked in three runs with a pair of singles. He got credit for an RBI when hit with a pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Despite the 10 hits he surrendered. Daley was tough when he had to be. He fanned Rocky Colavito with the bases loaded in the fifth and Jim Baxes with two on in the sixth.

The Athletics scored a run in the first inning and two more in the second when they routed starter Jim (Mudcat) Grant and made him a loser for the first time this season to go with his three triumphs. Kansas City tallied one run off newcomer Bud Podbielan and three runs in the final two innings off Dick Brodowski. Mike Garcia, who pitched one round, and Jim Perry, who got the final out, escaped unscratched.

Colavito slammed a homer in the second inning for Cleveland's first run.

The Tribe counted its second run in the fifth. Billy Martin singled and went to third when Daley bobbled Carroll Hardy's tap to the mound. Vic Power then sent Martin across with a single to right. Minnie Minoso was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Daley then slipped a third strike past Colavito's swinging bat.

Cocky Army Lieutenant In British Semi-Finals

SANDWICH, England (AP)—"I train on 15 cigars a day and I play $10 Nassau to keep me sharp.

"I'm the son of a Welsh rarebit manufacturer and I never won a thing in golf.

"I'm a bum and I ask you — what am I doing playing a guy like Bill Hyndman in the semifinals of the British Amateur Golf Championship?"

Bob Magee, an American Army lieutenant, fired up the first cigar of the day — a great Churchill-size thing — and walked out of the clubhouse of Royal St. George's to meet the great Hyndman.

"The last time I saw this Hyndman guy was when I had to buy a ticket to watch him play. Now people are buying tickets to watch Hyndman and me play golf."

"This is pretty good company for a driving range golfer like me," said the 28-year-old Magee who comes from Newton, Mass.

"I'm hitting my irons like I did it for a living and I've been listening real closely to what my caddy told me to do," he said.

"My caddy is a fisherman in the winter and he works at the course in summer. I just stick my hand out and he puts the right tool in it."

"I'm a little cocky, too, but that always helps. You couldn't beat your mother with a stick if you weren't cocky."

Magee is stationed at Germansheim, Germany, and specializes in repairing transmissions on tanks.

"I'm ripe for promotion to captain" the first lieutenant said. "And when the Old Man (the commanding officer) reads about me in the British Amateur, maybe I'll get another bar."

Bucs Ship Gross Back To Minors

MILWAUKEE — The Pirates today recalled southpaw Al Jackson from Columbus and sent Don Gross down to the Jets on 24 hour option.

Gross, troubled with a bum shoulder since spring training, has been in just five games this year, for a total of six innings.

A year ago he was the left-handed bulwark in the Buc bullpen, pitching in 40 games for a 5-7 record.

Jackson, 23-year-old negro, has won six games in seven decisions with the Jets and pitched two shutouts. On the smallish side at 5-9 and 169 pounds, Jackson moved to the International League after an 18-9 record at Lincoln of the Class A, Western League last year.

His record at Columbus is impressive enough, showing 65 innings during which he fanned 53 and walked only 18 and an era of 2.77. Last year with Lincoln he led the league with an era of 2.07.

High-Flying Anglers Don't Even Get Bite

Abe Schiller, Las Vegas, Nev., hotel executive, and Carl Pritchett, Lubbock, Tex., rancher, tried for the game fish in a flight past Freeport and San Luis Beach.

They said mud clouding the water at the mouth of the Brazos River had thwarted them.

NEW YORK (AP)—The cardinal is the most popular official bird among the 27 birds proclaimed by the governments of the 50 states.

The cardinal is honored by seven states. The western meadow lark, adopted by six states is the second most popular bird and five states chose the mocking bird.

Cincy Collects 13 Hits Too

Reds Leave 11 Stranded In 4-3 Loss To Phillies

CINCINNATI (AP) — What a difference 24 hours can make in a baseball team.

Wednesday night the Cincinnati Reds got 10 runs on 14 hits. Thursday night they almost equaled that hit production with 13 but got only 3 runs as 11 base runners were left stranded in a 4-3 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Phils.

But that inability to get the necessary hit with men on base was one of the things that plagued the Reds on their recent disastrous road trip.

The Cincinnatians again came up with some home runs—one by Frank Robinson and one by Gus Bell—but they both came with the bases empty. Only once was a man on base driven home. That was in the ninth when Jerry Lynch doubled to score Vada Pinson who had singled.

The game also brought an indication that Joe Nuxhall still isn't ready for work. An ailing shoulder has kept him out of action since May 14.

Manager Mayo Smith removed him quickly in the top of the second when he walked Wally Post and then gave up a single to Harry Anderson and a double to Willie Jones for one run.

Although the Reds had men on base in all but one inning against the Phils' Jim Owens, they couldn't score except for Robinson's homer in the sixth and Bell's in the eighth until the dying effort in the ninth.

Orlando Pena, Willard Schmidt, Bob Mabe and Hal Jeffcoat, in addition to Nuxhall, had a hand in the Cincinnati pitching and they were in about as much hot water as Owens. The Phils also left 11 runners on base.

But the last-placers got two runs off Pena in the fifth on a single by Ed Bouchee, a walk to Post and a triple by Harry Anderson.

They picked up their final run in the ninth off Jeffcoat on a walk to Bouchee and Post'd double off the scoreboard.

The Pittsburgh Pirates will be here for four games beginning tonight and Brooks Lawrence is slated to face Ronnie Kline in the opener.

City Council Criticizes A's Elephant

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The venerable elephant symbol of the Kansas City A's was criticized again Thursday by city councilmen who want to see a Kansas City insignia on A's uniforms.

Last Sunday Councilman Joseph M. Nolan, the only Republican on the council and chairman of the Baseball Committee, apparently sidetracked an effort to have the elephant removed from the front of A's uniforms.

It's been there since the days when the A's played in Philadelphia under Connie Mack.

Councilman Charles W. Fisher Thursday introduced a resolution favoring a heart insignia on the uniform sleeves — representing the Kansas City slogan, "Heart of America."

Councilman Charles Schaeffer said beneath the heart should be printed the words "Farm Club of the New York Yankees" — a reference to the many deals between the A's and the Yankees.

Tax-Dodging Pastor Due Release From Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rev. Maurice McCrackin, who refuses to pay income taxes, may be released from the Allenwood, Pa., Federal Reformatory today, his friends here say.

The Rev. McCrackin was sentenced last December to six months in prison for his refusal to heed an Internal Revenue Service summons.

The Cincinnati minister has refused to pay income tax because some of the money is used for military preparedness. The Rev. McCrackin is a pacifist.

3 Americans Among Last 4 Survivors

SANDWICH, England (AP) — The British Amateur golf semifinals today looked more like the semifinals of the U.S. National Amateur.

Three Americans were among the last four survivors, with English champion Guy Wolstenholme the only home-grown player blocking the way to the fifth all-American final in history.

The 6-foot-5 Briton was paired against 21-year-old Dean Beman of Silver Spring, Md.

The other semifinal matched American Walker cupper Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., and Lt. Bob Magee, a little-known American Army officer from Newton, Mass.

The semifinals are 36 holes, with the 36-hole final over the Royal St. George's Links Saturday.

The last time three American's reached the semifinals was in 1952.

Hyndman, 43-year-old insurance broker who has yet to win a major title, is favorite for the championship after playing the finest golf of the week on this 6,728-yard links.

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP)—Bucyrus High School pitcher Vern Noggle says he has signed a contract giving his southpaw talents to the Philadelphia Phils. Knuckleballing Hoyt Wilhelm Shuts Out New York, 5-0

Gains Seventh Straight Victory For Baltimore

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Time was when Bud Daley was just "the other guy" in player trades. Now he's the sturdy Kansas City southpaw who has allowed just two runs while knocking off American League leading Cleveland and runner-up Chicago in his last two starts.

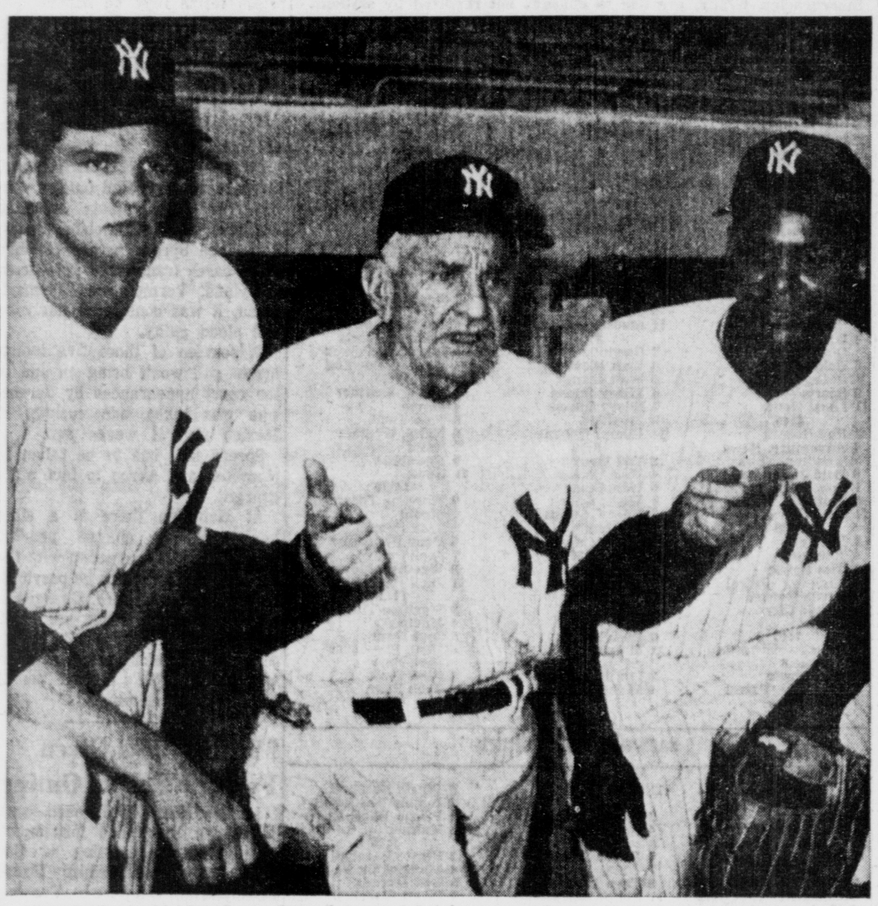

Daley, a lefty because his right hand was injured at birth, got his chance as a starter two weeks ago, only to lose 3-2 at New York after pitching a three-hit shutout for eight innings.

Thursday night he made his third start and followed up Saturday's four-hit shutout (16-0) over Chicago with a 7-2 breeze against Cleveland that sliced the Indians' lead to a half-game and hoisted the A's into fourth place.

The White Sox closed in although their meeting with Detroit was rained out with the Tigers at bat in the second inning of a scoreless game at Chicago. Third place Baltimore moved within 1½ games of the lead as unbeaten Hoyt Wilhelm stretched his scoreless inning string to 22 with his second straight shutout over New York, winning 5-0 with a four-hitter. Boston tied Detroit for sixth by beating Washington 3-1 on Frank Sullivan's two-hitter.

In the National League, Bob Friend finally won his first, four-hitting Milwaukee for a 3-0 Pittsburgh victory that cut the Braves' lead to two games after San Francisco deeated St. Louis 5-4. The Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-5 and Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati 4-3.

Wilhelm (7-0), the knuckleballing right-hander who has won eight in a row starting with last September's no-hitter against the Yankees, gave up nothing but singles while striking out six and walking five. The Orioles scored twice in the first inning, on a walk, Whitey Lockman's double and Wille Tasby's single, against loser Ralph Terry (2-5) in his first appearance since rejoining the Yankees. Woodling hit a two-run homer for the Orioles.

Cocky Army Lieutenant In British Semi-Finals

SANDWICH, England (AP)—"I train on 15 cigars a day and I play $10 Nassau to keep me sharp.

"I'm the son of a Welsh rarebit manufacturer and I never won a thing in golf.

"I'm a bum and I ask you — what am I doing playing a guy like Bill Hyndman in the semifinals of the British Amateur Golf Championship?"

Bob Magee, an American Army lieutenant, fired up the first cigar of the day — a great Churchill-size thing — and walked out of the clubhouse of Royal St. George's to meet the great Hyndman.

"The last time I saw this Hyndman guy was when I had to buy a ticket to watch him play. Now people are buying tickets to watch Hyndman and me play golf."

"This is pretty good company for a driving range golfer like me," said the 28-year-old Magee who comes from Newton, Mass.

"I'm hitting my irons like I did it for a living and I've been listening real closely to what my caddy told me to do," he said.

"My caddy is a fisherman in the winter and he works at the course in summer. I just stick my hand out and he puts the right tool in it."

"I'm a little cocky, too, but that always helps. You couldn't beat your mother with a stick if you weren't cocky."

Magee is stationed at Germansheim, Germany, and specializes in repairing transmissions on tanks.

"I'm ripe for promotion to captain" the first lieutenant said. "And when the Old Man (the commanding officer) reads about me in the British Amateur, maybe I'll get another bar."

Bucs Ship Gross Back To Minors

MILWAUKEE — The Pirates today recalled southpaw Al Jackson from Columbus and sent Don Gross down to the Jets on 24 hour option.

Gross, troubled with a bum shoulder since spring training, has been in just five games this year, for a total of six innings.

A year ago he was the left-handed bulwark in the Buc bullpen, pitching in 40 games for a 5-7 record.

Jackson, 23-year-old negro, has won six games in seven decisions with the Jets and pitched two shutouts. On the smallish side at 5-9 and 169 pounds, Jackson moved to the International League after an 18-9 record at Lincoln of the Class A, Western League last year.

His record at Columbus is impressive enough, showing 65 innings during which he fanned 53 and walked only 18 and an era of 2.77. Last year with Lincoln he led the league with an era of 2.07.

High-Flying Anglers Don't Even Get Bite

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP)— Two men tried to catch tarpon from a helicopter Thursday but didn't even get a strike.

Abe Schiller, Las Vegas, Nev., hotel executive, and Carl Pritchett, Lubbock, Tex., rancher, tried for the game fish in a flight past Freeport and San Luis Beach.

They said mud clouding the water at the mouth of the Brazos River had thwarted them.

Cardinal Proves It's Most Popular Bird

NEW YORK (AP)—The cardinal is the most popular official bird among the 27 birds proclaimed by the governments of the 50 states.

The cardinal is honored by seven states. The western meadow lark, adopted by six states is the second most popular bird and five states chose the mocking bird.

Highlandtown Defeats No. 16 Team For Title

Highlandtown School won the Columbiana County Class B softball championship playoff Wednesday when it defeated No. 16 School, 26 to 7, at Salineville.

Highlandtown will reign as Class B champions, along with Beaver Local, which won the Class A championship last week, defeating United Local. Both schools will receive a trophy from the County Athletic Association.

Cincy Collects 13 Hits Too

Reds Leave 11 Stranded In 4-3 Loss To Phillies

CINCINNATI (AP) — What a difference 24 hours can make in a baseball team.

Wednesday night the Cincinnati Reds got 10 runs on 14 hits. Thursday night they almost equaled that hit production with 13 but got only 3 runs as 11 base runners were left stranded in a 4-3 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Phils.

But that inability to get the necessary hit with men on base was one of the things that plagued the Reds on their recent disastrous road trip.

The Cincinnatians again came up with some home runs—one by Frank Robinson and one by Gus Bell—but they both came with the bases empty. Only once was a man on base driven home. That was in the ninth when Jerry Lynch doubled to score Vada Pinson who had singled.

The game also brought an indication that Joe Nuxhall still isn't ready for work. An ailing shoulder has kept him out of action since May 14.

Manager Mayo Smith removed him quickly in the top of the second when he walked Wally Post and then gave up a single to Harry Anderson and a double to Willie Jones for one run.

Although the Reds had men on base in all but one inning against the Phils' Jim Owens, they couldn't score except for Robinson's homer in the sixth and Bell's in the eighth until the dying effort in the ninth.

Orlando Pena, Willard Schmidt, Bob Mabe and Hal Jeffcoat, in addition to Nuxhall, had a hand in the Cincinnati pitching and they were in about as much hot water as Owens. The Phils also left 11 runners on base.

But the last-placers got two runs off Pena in the fifth on a single by Ed Bouchee, a walk to Post and a triple by Harry Anderson.

They picked up their final run in the ninth off Jeffcoat on a walk to Bouchee and Post'd double off the scoreboard.

The Pittsburgh Pirates will be here for four games beginning tonight and Brooks Lawrence is slated to face Ronnie Kline in the opener.

City Council Criticizes A's Elephant

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The venerable elephant symbol of the Kansas City A's was criticized again Thursday by city councilmen who want to see a Kansas City insignia on A's uniforms.

Last Sunday Councilman Joseph M. Nolan, the only Republican on the council and chairman of the Baseball Committee, apparently sidetracked an effort to have the elephant removed from the front of A's uniforms.

It's been there since the days when the A's played in Philadelphia under Connie Mack.

Councilman Charles W. Fisher Thursday introduced a resolution favoring a heart insignia on the uniform sleeves — representing the Kansas City slogan, "Heart of America."

Councilman Charles Schaeffer said beneath the heart should be printed the words "Farm Club of the New York Yankees" — a reference to the many deals between the A's and the Yankees.

Tax-Dodging Pastor Due Release From Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rev. Maurice McCrackin, who refuses to pay income taxes, may be released from the Allenwood, Pa., Federal Reformatory today, his friends here say.

The Rev. McCrackin was sentenced last December to six months in prison for his refusal to heed an Internal Revenue Service summons.

The Cincinnati minister has refused to pay income tax because some of the money is used for military preparedness. The Rev. McCrackin is a pacifist.

Friendly Prescription

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — When druggist Charles Mires entered the hospital for an emergency appendectomy, his store was left without a pharmacist. But not for long. Fellow pharmacists from the area took over behind his prescription counter, a new face appearing every other day.

A's Pound Out 14-Hits In 7-2 Win Over Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—It won't be by much, but the Cleveland Indians will go into Saturday's Memorial Day doubleheader—the traditional first quarter mark of the season—with a first place lead in the American League.

The Kansas City Athletics, opponents in the holiday twin-bill, clobbered five Indian pitchers for 14 hits en route to a 7-2 victory Thursday night.

The loss cut the Tribe's margin to a half game over the Chicago White Sox, who were rained out of a game with Detroit.

Idle today, the Indians will send their righty-lefty mound punch against the Athletics Saturday. Right-hander Cal McLish (5-1) and southpaw Herb Score (4-2) are scheduled to face Rip Coleman and Johnny Kucks, the former Yankee hurler.

Bill Tuttle was the A's hitting star with three singles, a home run and three RBIs. Bud Daley, the pitcher, also knocked in three runs with a pair of singles. He got credit for an RBI when hit with a pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Despite the 10 hits he surrendered, Daley was tough when he had to be. He fanned Rocky Colavito with the bases loaded in the fifth and Jim Baxes with two on in the sixth.

The Athletics scored a run in the first inning and two more in the second when they routed starter Jim (Mudcat) Grant and made him a loser for the first time this season to go with his three triumphs. Kansas City tallied one run off newcomer Bud Podbielan and three runs in the final two innings off Dick Brodowski. Mike Garcia, who pitched one round, and Jim Perry, who got the final out, escaped unscratched.

Colavito slammed a homer in the second inning for Cleveland's first run.

The Tribe counted its second run in the fifth. Billy Martin singled and went to third when Daley bobbled Carroll Hardy's tap to the mound. Vic Power then sent Martin across with a single to right. Minnie Minoso was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Daley then slipped a third strike past Colavito's swinging bat.

3 Americans Among Last 4 Survivors

SANDWICH, England (AP) — The British Amateur golf semifinals today looked more like the semifinals of the U.S. National Amateur.

Three Americans were among the last four survivors, with English champion Guy Wolstenholme the only home-grown player blocking the way to the fifth all-American final in history.

The 6-foot-5 Briton was paired against 21-year-old Dean Beman of Silver Spring, Md.

The other semifinal matched American Walker cupper Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., and Lt. Bob Magee, a little-known American Army officer from Newton, Mass.

The semifinals are 36 holes, with the 36-hole final over the Royal St. George's Links Saturday.

The last time three American's reached the semifinals was in 1952.

Hyndman, 43-year-old insurance broker who has yet to win a major title, is favorite for the championship after playing the finest golf of the week on this 6,728-yard links.

He was told to report to the club's rookie camp at Johnson City, Tenn., June 5. The contract, contents of which the 18-year-old hurler declined to discuss, reportedly gives him a bonus, plus a four-year education at the college of his choice—Ohio State.

The Firestone Time Squabble

Perhaps an injustice has been done the networks, particularly ABC, in the controversial "Voice of Firestone" matter. Maybe they've been unduly censured for the imminent departure (June 1) of the only weekly television show that regularly offers top concert artists.

Marie Torre

Over the years, it's been characteristic of networks to keep their antennas shut when involved in a public furor, and most times they've emerged guilty by the very nature of their silence.

This timidity, or lack of self-defense, runs contrary to the proposition that there are two sides to every story, and in the case of Firestone only one side, we fear, has been told.

BRIEFLY, the public-at-large, understandably baffled by the harsh economics of the TV industry, has kept moving a steady flow of protesting letters to the networks for neglecting to find a position on the fall schedule for the Firestone program. As far as the lay audience knows, nobody wants Firestone. But this is not true.

Between them, CBS and NBC offered Firestone late-afternoon or early-evening showcases on Sunday. ABC, which currently runs the program Monday nights at 9, submitted the time period of Monday nights at 10, subsequently 10:30. All proposals flatly were rejected.

Considering Firestone's time-honored devotion to the old show, and its small but fiercely loyal band of followers, the question arises, "What's wrong with 10 or 10:30 Monday nights?"

The matter becomes even more perplexing when an ABC official, temporarily departing from the "no comment" policy, uncovers some authoritative facts in the case.

THE WILLING TALKER is Julius Barnathan, an ABC vice president and director of research, who spends most of his working time doping out viewer surveys.

According to Mr. Barnathan's educated opinion — and it goes far at ABC — keeping Firestone in the Monday-at-9 slot would jeopardize the entire Monday night structure because of the low level of its audience appeal.

"All surveys, and we have them by the barrel," Barnathan says, "tell us that Firestone has a low audience level. If part of the potential Monday night audience is lost by one program, it means a small carryover to the succeeding program and, by extension, to the one following thereafter.

"In other words, if the viewer strays to another channel he may be hard to win back.

"While we're aware of our obligation to cultural interests, can you live with a thing that destroys you? The reluctance of Firestone to move out of the 9 o'clock period is a matter of tradition. It will not accept change. But it must accept change to survive in contemporary television."

MAKING WIDE USE of TV statistics, ABC submitted a presentation to Firestone that contained research data about the nature of the TV audience during the prime evening hours.

Since Firestone appeals primarily to adults and since children have some control over the TV set at the 9 p.m. period, ABC arrived at the conclusion that the program would fare better if presented at a time when the influence of children is negligible. More important to ABC, the later hour would not jeopardize its Monday night structure.

"You know," Barnathan added, "Things happen in TV sometimes that are both puzzling and disturbing.

"The other night, Secretary of State Christian Herter, just before he left on what was a mission of great importance to the world, was shown live on CBS and NBC. We stayed with the Pat Boone show at that time, carrying a tap of the Herter broadcast later.

"Well, Boone drew an audience that was greater — much greater —than CBS and NBC combined. This is disturbing. After you're in this business awhile, you learn that people will take what they want, not what you give them."

PHYLLIS KIRK, still in the dark about the continuation of "The Thin Man" series, says she and co-star Peter Lawford are bound contractually to the series until August, after which they become free agents — unless a sponsor comes to "Thin Man's" rescue. . . .

Zsa Zsa Gabor will try for situation comedy sweepstakes. In August she begins work on "Zsa Zsa," in which she'll share billing, rather courageously, with a scene-stealing 10-year-old boy. . . .

In Britain, they like "Wagon Train," too. The Western came out first in one of the leading TV surveys. . . .

Couple Plead Innocent In Strangulation

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Prosecutor Joseph McNerney says a young mother and her alleged lover beat her estranged husband over the head with a sand-filled sock, then strangled him with a towel.

The victim was Patrick Landis, 74-year-old retired furniture dealer, whose body was found in his cottage near here May 19.

His wife, Mary Margaret Landis, 29-year-old mother of two, and S. Sgt. Robert L. Bennett, 26, of Lockbourne Air Force base near Columbus, pleaded innocent Thursday to first - degree murder charges.

They were ordered held without bond pending a preliminary hearing Monday.

Landis filed a divorce petition against his wife last October, charging that his wife had left last August with another man. Bennett, called as a witness in a postponed divorce hearing May 8, was identified as the other man.

Landis had charged his wife with gross neglect, extreme cruelty and adultery.

In Columbus, where Mrs. Landis and Bennett were arrested Wednesday, Franklin County Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Murphy described the pair as "very much in love."

Mrs. Landis worked in Columbus as a waitress. She had been a clerk in her husband's furniture store in Zanesville before they were married in 1951.

Sgt. Murphy said Bennett, under questioning, told of meeting Mrs. Landis a year ago while she worked in a restaurant in Zanesville, his home town.

Murphy said Bennett and Mrs. Landis admitted that both hit her husband repeatedly with the sand-filled sock.

The joint affidavit charging them with murder did not specify which one allegedly did the strangling.

But Murphy said Mrs. Landis and Bennett accused each other of the deed.

The deputy said neither gave a reason for the slaying.

Officers are checking reports that the two were in the Zanesville area May 18 and that they argued with Landis over custody of his wife's two children, Patrick Jr., 7, and Nancy Sue, 1.

Shapely Ex-School Teacher Becomes Night Club Stripper

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A shapely blonde junior high school teacher who quit teaching because a school official criticized her dress, turned up today as a featured stripper in a burlesque night club.

Needless to say, she resigned her teaching job before she turned peeler. Her hometown is Minneapolis. Her real name is Patricia Ann Carruthers and she says she was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1956.

But at the El Rancho Club in Los Angeles, she unveils nightly under the name of Patti White. She says she made the name change in order not to embarrass the suburban school where she taught until last October.

She said she chucked teaching when one official kept riding her about the way she dressed.

"Everything I did was wrong," she said. "Either my dresses were too tight or too revealing. I couldn't even wear long earrings without criticism. The kids all loved the way I dressed but one day this official said: "'Do you realize what you are doing to these junior high school boys?'

"I decided then that I couldn't be myself any more if I stayed in teaching. So I quit.

"I never really wanted to be a teacher anyway," she told a reporter. "I've always wanted to be an actress."

She said she sought acting work, but jobs were scarce. Finally her agent got her a job at the night club as a nude — The models who just stand on the stage, as nude as the law allows.

"Then, a few weeks ago," she said, "the manager handed me a g-string and told me to go out there and strip."

"I do everything on impulse. Before I knew it, I was out there. I never dreamed that I ever could —but there I was.

"I still blush when I perform."

Does she prefer burlesque to teaching school?

"It beats getting up at 6 a.m. And no one criticizes my dress. And there are no papers to correct."

Ohio To Open 63 More Road Bids On June 16

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hurrying to get contracts awarded and the work done while warm weather permits, the State Highway Department has scheduled 63 more road maintenance and re-surfacing projects for its June 16 bid-opening.

The projects cover about 320 miles in 56 counties.

Sprenz Faces More Terms

CINCINNATI (AP) — Additional prison terms may be handed out today to Frank L. Sprenz, 29, the "flying bank robber."

Sprenz already is under a 25-year federal term on his plea of guilty to the $25,000 holdup of a branch of the First National Bank at Hamilton last March.

He goes into U. S. District Court today to be arraigned on five other federal indictments charging airplane and automobile thefts. And since Sprenz agreed to have those cases transferred here from Maryland, Vermont and Pennsylvania, it was considered likely he will plead guilty.

Disposition of those five indictments still won't bring an end to the court appearances by Sprenz, who was taken into custody in Mexico several weeks ago.

Sprenz still has to be taken to Hamilton and Akron to face state charges.

At Hamilton there is a state bank robbery charge pending against him in connection with the same holdup for which he previously was sentenced here. Charges of robbery and jail break are pending against him in Akron.

At the time of his arrest, Sprenz was on the FBI's list of the 10 most wanted criminals.

Musical Skits Given For Cub Scouts Outing

Musical skits, with each cub playing a handmade instrument, highlighted the meeting of Cub Pack 12 of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Tuesday night at Thompson Park.

Tom Snow, cubmaster, the committeemen and the den mothers entertained with a square dance.

Randy Calhoun and Bruce Carver were presented denner stripes; Al Lowe and Michael Parkes, assistant denner stripe; Ricky Thornton, bobcat pin; Monty Cook and Michael Parkes, wolf badge; Donald Hill, bear badge and gold arrow, and Karl Oyster, one-year pin.

Donald Brown, patrol leader of Boy Scout Troop 12 and also den chief, discussed camping.

The pack will march in the Memorial Day parade Saturday.

The June pack meeting will also be held at Thompson Park.

Dayton Athlete Believes In First Things First

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Craig Butcher of Oakwood High School believes in first things first.

It was raining hard during a recent track meet between Oakwood and Eaton on the former's five-laps-to-a-mile course.

Butcher had finished third in the mile run, but did not seek shelter upon finishing the race. Instead, he continued running, circled the track again and stopped to pick up something on the last curve.

The junior distanceman finally approached his coach, Howard Carr, saying, "I saw this on the first lap."

He was gleefully waving a $1 bill.

Hearing Due On Motion In Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Arguments will be heard in Criminal Court here Monday on a motion by attorneys for Mrs. Edythe Klumpp for more detailed information about the state's murder charge against her.

Mrs. Klumpp, a blonde, 40-year-old part time school teacher, is accused of the slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, the estranged wife of Mrs. Klumpp's lover. Mrs. Bergen's body was burned and left on the shore of Lake Cowan in Clinton County Oct. 31.

The state claims Mrs. Klumpp killed Mrs. Bergen in Hamilton County on Oct. 30 and then took the body to Lake Cowan the next day and burned it. Mrs. Klumpp claims Mrs. Bergen was shot accidentally as they grappled for a gun.

The motion filed Thursday by defense attorneys William F. Hokins and Harvey Woods asked for specific information on the manner in which Mrs. Bergen met her death, the method used to cause her death and the time and place where it occurred.

There has been a question as to whether Mrs. Bergen's death was caused by a gunshot wound or by a bludgeoning. A pathologist also said previously she might have been alive when her body was set afire.

The Firestone Time Squabble

Perhaps an injustice has been done the networks, particularly ABC, in the controversial "Voice of Firestone" matter. Maybe they've been unduly censured for the imminent departure (June 1) of the only weekly television show that regularly offers top concert artists.

Marie Torre

Over the years, it's been characteristic of networks to keep their antennas shut when involved in a public furor, and most times they've emerged guilty by the very nature of their silence.

This timidity, or lack of self-defense, runs contrary to the proposition that there are two sides to every story, and in the case of Firestone only one side, we fear, has been told.

BRIEFLY, the public-at-large, understandably baffled by the harsh economics of the TV industry, has kept moving a steady flow of protesting letters to the networks for neglecting to find a position on the fall schedule for the Firestone program. As far as the lay audience knows, nobody wants Firestone. But this is not true.

Between them, CBS and NBC offered Firestone late-afternoon or early-evening showcases on Sunday. ABC, which currently runs the program Monday nights at 9, submitted the time period of Monday nights at 10, subsequently 10:30. All proposals flatly were rejected.

Considering Firestone's time-honored devotion to the old show, and its small but fiercely loyal band of followers, the question arises, "What's wrong with 10 or 10:30 Monday nights?"

The matter becomes even more perplexing when an ABC official, temporarily departing from the "no comment" policy, uncovers some authoritative facts in the case.

THE WILLING TALKER is Julius Barnathan, an ABC vice president and director of research, who spends most of his working time doping out viewer surveys.

According to Mr. Barnathan's educated opinion — and it goes far at ABC — keeping Firestone in the Monday-at-9 slot would jeopardize the entire Monday night structure because of the low level of its audience appeal.

"All surveys, and we have them by the barrel," Barnathan says, "tell us that Firestone has a low audience level. If part of the potential Monday night audience is lost by one program, it means a small carryover to the succeeding program and, by extension, to the one following thereafter.

"In other words, if the viewer strays to another channel he may be hard to win back.

"While we're aware of our obligation to cultural interests, can you live with a thing that destroys you? The reluctance of Firestone to move out of the 9 o'clock period is a matter of tradition. It will not accept change. But it must accept change to survive in contemporary television."

-:-

MAKING WIDE USE of TV statistics, ABC submitted a presentation to Firestone that contained research data about the nature of the TV audience during the prime evening hours.

Since Firestone appeals primarily to adults and since children have some control over the TV set at the 9 p.m. period, ABC arrived at the conclusion that the program would fare better if presented at a time when the influence of children is negligible. More important to ABC, the later hour would not jeopardize its Monday night structure.

"You know," Barnathan added, "Things happen in TV sometimes that are both puzzling and disturbing.

"The other night, Secretary of State Christian Herter, just before he left on what was a mission of great importance to the world, was shown live on CBS and NBC. We stayed with the Pat Boone show at that time, carrying a tap of the Herter broadcast later.

"Well, Boone drew an audience that was greater — much greater —than CBS and NBC combined. This is disturbing. After you're in this business awhile, you learn that people will take what they want, not what you give them."

PHYLLIS KIRK, still in the dark about the continuation of "The Thin Man" series, says she and co-star Peter Lawford are bound contractually to the series until August, after which they become free agents — unless a sponsor comes to "Thin Man's" rescue. . . .

Zsa Zsa Gabor will try for situation comedy sweepstakes. In August she begins work on "Zsa Zsa," in which she'll share billing, rather courageously, with a scene-stealing 10-year-old boy. . . .

In Britain, they like "Wagon Train," too. The Western came out first in one of the leading TV surveys. . . .

Jack Paar has added a few more advertisers, which, needless to say, he doesn't need.

Actor's Mother Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Mrs. Nettie Powell, 86, mother of Actor William Powell, died Wednesday.

Couple Plead Innocent In Strangulation

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Prosecutor Joseph McNerney says a young mother and her alleged lover beat her estranged husband over the head with a sand-filled sock, then strangled him with a towel.

The victim was Patrick Landis, 74-year-old retired furniture dealer, whose body was found in his cottage near here May 19.

His wife, Mary Margaret Landis, 29-year-old mother of two, and S. Sgt. Robert L. Bennett, 26, of Lockbourne Air Force base near Columbus, pleaded innocent Thursday to first - degree murder charges.

They were ordered held without bond pending a preliminary hearing Monday.

Landis filed a divorce petition against his wife last October, charging that his wife had left last August with another man. Bennett, called as a witness in a postponed divorce hearing May 8, was identified as the other man.

Landis had charged his wife with gross neglect, extreme cruelty and adultery.

In Columbus, where Mrs. Landis and Bennett were arrested Wednesday, Franklin County Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Murphy described the pair as "very much in love."

Mrs. Landis worked in Columbus as a waitress. She had been a clerk in her husband's furniture store in Zanesville before they were married in 1951.

Sgt. Murphy said Bennett, under questioning, told of meeting Mrs. Landis a year ago while she worked in a restaurant in Zanesville, his home town.

Murphy said Bennett and Mrs. Landis admitted that both hit her husband repeatedly with the sand-filled sock.

The joint affidavit charging them with murder did not specify which one allegedly did the strangling.

But Murphy said Mrs. Landis and Bennett accused each other of the deed.

The deputy said neither gave a reason for the slaying.

Officers are checking reports that the two were in the Zanesville area May 18 and that they argued with Landis over custody of his wife's two children, Patrick Jr., 7, and Nancy Sue, 1.

Shapely Ex-School Teacher Becomes Night Club Stripper

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A shapely blonde junior high school teacher who quit teaching because a school official criticized her dress, turned up today as a featured stripper in a burlesque night club.

Needless to say, she resigned her teaching job before she turned peeler. Her hometown is Minneapolis. Her real name is Patricia Ann Carruthers and she says she was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1956.

But at the El Rancho Club in Los Angeles, she unveils nightly under the name of Patti White. She says she made the name change in order not to embarrass the suburban school where she taught until last October.

She said she chucked teaching when one official kept riding her about the way she dressed.

"Everything I did was wrong," she said. "Either my dresses were too tight or too revealing. I couldn't even wear long earrings without criticism. The kids all loved the way I dressed but one day this official said: "'Do you realize what you are doing to these junior high school boys?'

"I decided then that I couldn't be myself any more if I stayed in teaching. So I quit.

"I never really wanted to be a teacher anyway," she told a reporter. "I've always wanted to be an actress."

She said she sought acting work, but jobs were scarce. Finally her agent got her a job at the night club as a nude — The models who just stand on the stage, as nude as the law allows.

"Then, a few weeks ago," she said, "the manager handed me a g-string and told me to go out there and strip."

"I do everything on impulse. Before I knew it, I was out there. I never dreamed that I ever could —but there I was.

"I still blush when I perform."

Does she prefer burlesque to teaching school?

"It beats getting up at 6 a.m. And no one criticizes my dress. And there are no papers to correct."

Ohio To Open 63 More Road Bids On June 16

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hurrying to get contracts awarded and the work done while warm weather permits, the State Highway Department has scheduled 63 more road maintenance and re-surfacing projects for its June 16 bid-opening.

The projects cover about 320 miles in 56 counties.

Sprenz Faces More Terms

CINCINNATI (AP) — Additional prison terms may be handed out today to Frank L. Sprenz, 29, the "flying bank robber."

Sprenz already is under a 25-year federal term on his plea of guilty to the $25,000 holdup of a branch of the First National Bank at Hamilton last March.

He goes into U. S. District Court today to be arraigned on five other federal indictments charging airplane and automobile thefts. And since Sprenz agreed to have those cases transferred here from Maryland, Vermont and Pennsylvania, it was considered likely he will plead guilty.

Disposition of those five indictments still won't bring an end to the court appearances by Sprenz, who was taken into custody in Mexico several weeks ago.

Sprenz still has to be taken to Hamilton and Akron to face state charges.

At Hamilton there is a state bank robbery charge pending against him in connection with the same holdup for which he previously was sentenced here. Charges of robbery and jail break are pending against him in Akron.

At the time of his arrest, Sprenz was on the FBI's list of the 10 most wanted criminals.

Musical Skits Given For Cub Scouts Outing

Musical skits, with each cub playing a handmade instrument, highlighted the meeting of Cub Pack 12 of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Tuesday night at Thompson Park.

Tom Snow, cubmaster, the committeemen and the den mothers entertained with a square dance.

Randy Calhoun and Bruce Carver were presented denner stripes; Al Lowe and Michael Parkes, assistant denner stripe; Ricky Thornton, bobcat pin; Monty Cook and Michael Parkes, wolf badge; Donald Hill, bear badge and gold arrow, and Karl Oyster, one-year pin.

Donald Brown, patrol leader of Boy Scout Troop 12 and also den chief, discussed camping.

The pack will march in the Memorial Day parade Saturday.

The June pack meeting will also be held at Thompson Park.

Dayton Athlete Believes In First Things First

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Craig Butcher of Oakwood High School believes in first things first.

It was raining hard during a recent track meet between Oakwood and Eaton on the former's five-laps-to-a-mile course.

Butcher had finished third in the mile run, but did not seek shelter upon finishing the race. Instead, he continued running, circled the track again and stopped to pick up something on the last curve.

The junior distanceman finally approached his coach, Howard Carr, saying, "I saw this on the first lap."

He was gleefully waving a $1 bill.

Hearing Due On Motion In Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Arguments will be heard in Criminal Court here Monday on a motion by attorneys for Mrs. Edythe Klumpp for more detailed information about the state's murder charge against her.

Mrs. Klumpp, a blonde, 40-year-old part time school teacher, is accused of the slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, the estranged wife of Mrs. Klumpp's lover. Mrs. Bergen's body was burned and left on the shore of Lake Cowan in Clinton County Oct. 31.

The state claims Mrs. Klumpp killed Mrs. Bergen in Hamilton County on Oct. 30 and then took the body to Lake Cowan the next day and burned it. Mrs. Klumpp claims Mrs. Bergen was shot accidentally as they grappled for a gun.

The motion filed Thursday by defense attorneys William F. Hokins and Harvey Woods asked for specific information on the manner in which Mrs. Bergen met her death, the method used to cause her death and the time and place where it occurred.

There has been a question as to whether Mrs. Bergen's death was caused by a gunshot wound or by a bludgeoning. A pathologist also said previously she might have been alive when her body was set afire.

Parole Denied To Murderess

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Velma West won't get another parole hearing until May, 1964.

The Pardon and Parole Commission denied the 53-year-old Lake County murderess a parole Thursday. She has spent 32 years of her life sentence in the Marysville Reformatory for Women for the 1927 hammer slaying of her husband.

It was the second time parole was denied Mrs. West. The first was in 1934.

During her trial, the prosecution said Mrs. West became enraged when her husband, Thomas E. West, 26, of Perry, refused to attend a bridge party. West, a nurseryman, was her second husband.

She spent 11 years in the reformatory. Then, about 20 years ago, she escaped for "one little adventure" but was nabbed five weeks later in Dallas, Tex.

A heart ailment has left her weak and thin during her imprisonment. She spends most of her time in a wheel chair.

The commission paroled Mrs. Ethel Oltean, 51, sentenced from Trumbull County on two counts of first-degree manslaughter in the Feb. 15, 1954 slaying of Mrs. Anna Biggs, 60, and Henry Onatz, 48, in an argument while drinking. The parole is effective June 25.

Thomas Cundiff, 33, of Alliance, will also be paroled June 25. Indicted for second degree murder, he was allowed to plead guilty to first-degree manslaughter in the killing of Jesse Martin on March 17, 1956.

Here's Proper Way To Salute Flag

There is a proper way to salute the American flag. With Memorial Day parades scheduled here and in other district communities Saturday, this is an appropriate time to review the procedure.

Demonstrating the various salutes above are Petty Officer (1c) Frank L. Thompson, Navy recruiter, Mrs. Joyce Rose and Frank K. Robinson.

Official instructions read like this: "During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform, a man should remove his hat, holding it over the heart with the right hand. Men without hats, and women, should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes."

New 49-Star Flags Presented To City Go Into Mothballs

The city has been presented with three of the new 49-star flags, which officially recognize Alaska's admission as a state, but the new National Emblems will not be flown until July 4, when they become official under a proclamation issued by President Eisenhower.

Safety - Service Director Joseph Ross today publicly thanked the three patriotic and veterans' organizations which presented the flags to the city.

The banner for the Honor Roll Board in front of City Hall was presented by American Legion Post 374. The Daughters of Union Veterans gave the new flag for the staff in front of City Hall. Pvt. Eddy Post 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, donated the flag for the staff on the Diamond.

The director explained that the city will not fly the new flags until they become official under the President's proclamation. The flag soon will be altered again to 50 stars to recognize the admission of Hawaii. But the change requires action by a special federal commission and another Presidential proclamation setting the official date of adoption of the new flag in 1960.

Miller, 41, who was born in East Liverpool, is married and has a son and daughter.

July 4th Plans Advanced

Pioneers Will Be Honored At Midland

Pioneers of the Midland area will be honored with prominent places in the annual July 4th parade expected to attract 10,000 to the borough.

This new feature was announced following a meeting of the July 4th committee Tuesday evening in Council Chambers.

A LIST OF early residents is being compiled by the committee. They will ride in some 20 antique autos, dating back as far as the borough in 1906. Charles Curray, Crucible Steel Co. tabulating department employe and activities chairman of the Tri-State Antique Auto Club, has arranged for the vehicles.

The committee has requested organizations to complete and return entry blanks for the parade as soon as possible. The parade committee will hold a special meeting next week to make preliminary plans for the parade which is expected to last one and a half hours.

CONTRACTS for fireworks have been signed by the celebration committee. A huge display, the same as used at the opening of the bridge across the Straits of Mackinac and shot for the first time in the United States, is planned.

Some 290 aerial pieces will be included in the display. A display of 12 24-inch pieces, with 50 assorted breaks and 20 extra heavy reports in each shell, will precede the grand finale which will be the largest fired in Midland. It will include 814 assorted color breaks and 2,910 heavy reports, sponsors said.

Spectators will be able to watch the fireworks display in the football stadium for the first time this year since all will be of the aerial type.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for a variety show during the evening program when drill teams will be judged and drill exhibitions presented. The entertainment committee will announce types of acts secured at the general committee's meeting Tuesday in Council Chambers.

The committee said the all-day program will begin with the flag raising ceremony at 9 a. m. at the new gymnasium and conclude with the fireworks display at 11:30 p. m.

ARRANGEMENTS are progressing for the 49-star flag dedication following the parade. Midland residents were requested by the committee to fly flags in commemoration of Independence Day.

They are also reminded that the 49-star flag may be flown for the first time July 4, and the 48-star flags may be flown until worn out. Midland American Legion Post 481 announced that its color guard will carry both flags in the parade.

THREE MIDLAND funeral directors have arranged for ambulance service throughout the day. Red Cross representatives will be on hand to give first aid along the parade route. A Red Cross first aid tent will be erected in Lincoln Park.

Final plans for a water show, puppet show, children's games and a street dance will be announced following the next meeting.

Parole Denied To Murderess

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Velma West won't get another parole hearing until May, 1964.

The Pardon and Parole Commission denied the 53-year-old Lake County murderess a parole Thursday. She has spent 32 years of her life sentence in the Marysville Reformatory for Women for the 1927 hammer slaying of her husband.

It was the second time parole was denied Mrs. West. The first was in 1934.

During her trial, the prosecution said Mrs. West became enraged when her husband, Thomas E. West, 26, of Perry, refused to attend a bridge party. West, a nurseryman, was her second husband.

She spent 11 years in the reformatory. Then, about 20 years ago, she escaped for "one little adventure" but was nabbed five weeks later in Dallas, Tex.

A heart ailment has left her weak and thin during her imprisonment. She spends most of her time in a wheel chair.

The commission paroled Mrs. Ethel Oltean, 51, sentenced from Trumbull County on two counts of first-degree manslaughter in the Feb. 15, 1954 slaying of Mrs. Anna Biggs, 60, and Henry Onatz, 48, in an argument while drinking. The parole is effective June 25.

Thomas Cundiff, 33, of Alliance, will also be paroled June 25. Indicted for second degree murder, he was allowed to plead guilty to first-degree manslaughter in the killing of Jesse Martin on March 17, 1956.

R. T. Sullens of East Liverpool was elected secretary-treasurer and Weber vice president. Milburn continues as general manager.

Here's Proper Way To Salute Flag

There is a proper way to salute the American flag. With Memorial Day parades scheduled here and in other district communities Saturday, this is an appropriate time to review the procedure.

Demonstrating the various salutes above are Petty Officer (1c) Frank L. Thompson, Navy recruiter, Mrs. Joyce Rose and Frank K. Robinson.

Official instructions read like this: "During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform, a man should remove his hat, holding it over the heart with the right hand. Men without hats, and women, should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes."

New 49-Star Flags Presented To City Go Into Mothballs

The city has been presented with three of the new 49-star flags, which officially recognize Alaska's admission as a state, but the new National Emblems will not be flown until July 4, when they become official under a proclamation issued by President Eisenhower.

Safety - Service Director Joseph Ross today publicly thanked the three patriotic and veterans' organizations which presented the flags to the city.

The banner for the Honor Roll Board in front of City Hall was presented by American Legion Post 374. The Daughters of Union Veterans gave the new flag for the staff in front of City Hall. Pvt. Eddy Post 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, donated the flag for the staff on the Diamond.

The director explained that the city will not fly the new flags until they become official under the President's proclamation. The flag soon will be altered again to 50 stars to recognize the admission of Hawaii. But the change requires action by a special federal commission and another Presidential proclamation setting the official date of adoption of the new flag in 1960.

Former City Man Given MSU Post

Miller, 41, who was born in East Liverpool, is married and has a son and daughter.

'Hill Of Sacrifices'

Memorial Being Erected For War Dead Of Pacific

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

HONOLULU (AP)—On the inner rim of an extinct volcano crater known as Hill of Sacrifices, a memorial is being erected — America's war dead of the Pacific.

It is being built of Italian marble brought halfway around the world to the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, overlooking downtown Honolulu.

There in the trim green lawns of Punchbowl Crater, lie the remains of 17,000 Americans who died in the service of their country, most of them the dead of World War II and the Korean conflict. They include several thousand unknowns of the two wars.

On Memorial Day, as is the custom each year, families of the dead, Boy Scouts and veterans organizations will decorate each grave with Hawaiian flower leis.

Perhaps the most noted of those buried in Punchbowl was not a military man when he died.

He was Ernie Pyle, the war correspondent felled by Japanese sniper bullets April 18, 1945, on the remote Pacific Island of Ie Shima near Okinawa.

Pyle, 44, rated burial in this military cemetery because he served in the U.S. Navy in World War I.

The new war memorial is being built at Punchbowl by the American Battle Monuments Commission, a government agency that constructed and maintains 14 cemeteries and 17 memorials.

Work on it was started in June 1958. It is expected to be completed in the summer of 1962.

A principal part of the memorial will be the "Garden of the Missing." In it will be carved, on marble panels, the names, rank, organization and home state of some 26,000 missing of World War II and the Korean War.

The memorial is the last of 17 built by the commission. The cost has not been announced officially. One early estimate placed it at three million dollars.

Punchbowl Cemetery itself cost $1,102,000,000 and was dedicated Sept. 2, 1949, the fourth anniversary of V-J Day which marked the end of World War II hostilities. It covers 112 acres in the volcano crater, formed by an eruption said to have taken place 75,000 years ago.

Club Hears Appeals Judge

Working Effort For Peace Urged By Kiwanian Guest

An appeal for a working effort for peace was made in a Memorial Day talk presented by Judge Elmer Phillips of Youngstown at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

A member of the 7th District Court of Appeals, Judge Phillips outlined the history of Memorial Day, stemming from Decoration Day which had its roots in marking the graves of Civil War dead.

"Why do we meet together on these solemn occasions?" Judge Phillips asked. "Because men have died, giving their lives that we may enjoy freedom as we do."

The jurist also reminded that May is the month when "Law Day" is marked an observance launched by the American Bar Association in 1957 to promote recognition of the system of laws as the proper foundation of world peace.

The observance is held May 1 to counter May Day propagandizing by Soviet Russia on the Communistic program.

Judge Phillips said a World Court with strong enforcement powers is being recommended as the solution to avoidance of war. "An orderly system of law and courts is a more reasonable approach to international relations than the use of force."

"However, a World Court, to which nations would have recourse, would have to have enforcement powers, just as our local courts are able to have police or sheriffs make court orders effective."

"Russia could not afford to disregard such a World Court if all the free nations of the world were a part of the system," Judge Phillips said.

"We must bend our every energy to obtain such an international court. It is no utopia, it is no dream, any more than the hopes of Washington and Jefferson for a free Republic were dreams."

The jurist commended programs of prayer for peace, but "we, as practical men and women, should work hard at finding the solution in addition to turning to God for help—we can not simply place the burden on the Lord."

"There is confusion in times such as these, but we must be true to the memory of such men as John Foster Dulles or the fallen war dead who laid down their lives for peace," the judge concluded.

Russ Heddleston was program chairman.

Attorney Claims Client Couldn't Have Been Robber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus attorney has told the governor's legal advisor he has evidence showing that a man convicted of a Toledo robbery was in Mexico when the crime occurred.

Attorney George T. Gareff presented affidavits at a pardon hearing Thursday. They purported to show that his client, John Michoff, an Ohio Penitentiary inmate, couldn't have committed the $2,500 robbery Dec. 28, 1955.

The hearing was held before Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's legal advisor, Rankin Gibson, who said he will make recommendations in the case within three days. DiSalle is expected to give a decision next week, Gibson added.

A newsman prompted the investigation into Michoff's alleged innocence when he secured sworn statements of two men who claim they were with Michoff in Mexico when the Toledo robbery occurred.

The newsman also reportedly produced Mexican court records showing that Michoff and the other two men were in an auto accident two days before the crime and that Michoff was in court there the day after the robbery.

DiSalle's Tax Revenue Estimates Called Low

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Republican leaders in the Legislature say Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's estimates on tax revenue are about 25 million dollars too low.

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) and Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan), Senate and House minority leaders, said Thursday the Democratic governor's budgetary estimates "were made early in the year, before present, increased revenue trends had been established."

DiSalle replied to their comments: "One of the most uncertain things a public official can do is to estimate revenue."

The two Republicans said DiSalle should take a close "second look" at his total finance and tax program.

Driver, 16, Penalized

LISBON—Michael Joseph, 16, of Homeworth was sentenced Thursday to 10 days in the detention room of the County Jail by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for reckless operation. It was learned his driver's license was suspended May 4 for 30 days for truancy and Judge Tobin said he will suspend his license for another 60 days.

First Lady Entertains 514 Aged And Blind Men, Women

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The First Lady had a smile, a handshake, a gay word for each of her special guests—even a kiss for some. All of them were at least 65, some over 90.

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower had invited the 514 men and women from local homes for the aged and the blind for a White House garden party — the first of its kind.

Some were in wheelchairs. Some walked with crutches or canes. Some were blind. But all waited with an expectant smile as they lined up to meet their hostess.

Mrs. Eisenhower didn't disappoint them.

Under a tree near the President's golfing green, she stood on a square of pale green carpet in her pink silk dress and told them "I am awfully happy you came."

Mrs. Eisenhower complimented the women on what they were wearing, worried that wheelchairs were sticking in ruts in the grass and that the 90-degree heat might be too much for the elderly guests.

But they took it all in happy stride, enjoying refreshments served at two bright red and white striped awning stands. They sat on chairs and listened to the Marine Corps band in scarlet and white uniforms playing on a knoll across the lawn.

Westgate 6th Graders Visit City Sewage Plant

In connection with their study of municipal services, 36 sixth graders at Westgate School made a guided tour Thursday afternoon at the city's new sewage disposal plant, which adjoins the school.

The children were shown step-by-step how the city's waste is processed until it flows back into the river again in the form of heavily - chlorinated water. The guides were Charles Huddlestun, superintendent, and Elmer English, operator.

The students were accompanied by their teachers, Miss Helen McGregor and Miss Pauline Smiley. Huddlestun said it was the first guided tour through the plant since an "open house" program was held last November.

Proposed Wings On State Building In Flapping Stage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The proposed wings for the state office building here are in the flapping stage.

Whether the project finally "takes off" hinges on two things:

1. Legislative approval of a nearly 97 - million-dollar capital improvements bill, which contains an 11-million-dollar allowance for more state offices.

2. Failure of the state to obtain a site for a new office building by trade state lands.

The State Office Building Commission recently proposed that if it couldn't get a site for a new structure, the alternate plan would be to build two wings on the present building.

The capital improvements bill was introduced in the Ohio House Thursday by Rep. G. D. Tablack (D-Mahoning).

Vets Cautioned To Pay VA Insurance In Time

Veterans have fallen into a bad —and sometimes costly habit— of paying their VA insurance premiums late in the grace period, William Holsinger, manager of the Cleveland Regional Office of the Veterans Administration, warned today.

The law does not permit payment of insurance after expiration date of the policy, and monthly several instances develop in insurance being lost through expiration of the policy a few days before death, Holsinger noted.

Holsinger explained that the grace period of 30 days is allowed when an insurance premium is not paid on time. If the premium is not paid up to date during the grace period, the policy lapses.

The Veterans Administration does not send out premium due notices so veterans must watch their due dates themselves, Holsinger said.

Newly Organized Plant, Local To Air Wage Pact

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it expects to open contract negotiations Thursday with the management of a newly unionized Porcelain Products Co. of Carey, a division of the A. B. Chance Co.

The concern manufactures porcelain products for high tension electric voltage. It employes 150 at peak production.

The IBOP said the employes were organized in April by Clyde Jones of Alliance and Frank Dales of East Liverpool, international vice presidents. Then the union petitioned the National Labor Relations Board office at Cleveland for an election to choose a bargaining agent. The IBOP won by a 3 - to - 1 margin, the union announced.

DiSalle Would Agree To Blue Laws Repeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says he will agree to outright repeal of blue laws if they cannot be revised to include "reasonable exceptions" to now-banned Sunday sales.

"If you cannot write the law to make reasonable exceptions, then you have no other alternative," he told a news conference Thursday.

Hearings have been scheduled in the Ohio House Judiciary Committee Wednesday night on bills to revamp the blue laws and repeal them outright.

'Hill Of Sacrifices'

Memorial Being Erected For War Dead Of Pacific

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

HONOLULU (AP)—On the inner rim of an extinct volcano crater known as Hill of Sacrifices, a memorial is being erected — America's war dead of the Pacific.

It is being built of Italian marble brought halfway around the world to the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, overlooking downtown Honolulu.

There in the trim green lawns of Punchbowl Crater, lie the remains of 17,000 Americans who died in the service of their country, most of them the dead of World War II and the Korean conflict. They include several thousand unknowns of the two wars.

On Memorial Day, as is the custom each year, families of the dead, Boy Scouts and veterans organizations will decorate each grave with Hawaiian flower leis.

Perhaps the most noted of those buried in Punchbowl was not a military man when he died.

He was Ernie Pyle, the war correspondent felled by Japanese sniper bullets April 18, 1945, on the remote Pacific Island of Ie Shima near Okinawa.

Pyle, 44, rated burial in this military cemetery because he served in the U.S. Navy in World War I.

The new war memorial is being built at Punchbowl by the American Battle Monuments Commission, a government agency that constructed and maintains 14 cemeteries and 17 memorials.

Work on it was started in June 1958. It is expected to be completed in the summer of 1962.

A principal part of the memorial will be the "Garden of the Missing." In it will be carved, on marble panels, the names, rank, organization and home state of some 26,000 missing of World War II and the Korean War.

The memorial is the last of 17 built by the commission. The cost has not been announced officially. One early estimate placed it at three million dollars.

Punchbowl Cemetery itself cost $1,102,000,000 and was dedicated Sept. 2, 1949, the fourth anniversary of V-J Day which marked the end of World War II hostilities. It covers 112 acres in the volcano crater, formed by an eruption said to have taken place 75,000 years ago.

Club Hears Appeals Judge

Working Effort For Peace Urged By Kiwanian Guest

An appeal for a working effort for peace was made in a Memorial Day talk presented by Judge Elmer Phillips of Youngstown at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

A member of the 7th District Court of Appeals, Judge Phillips outlined the history of Memorial Day, stemming from Decoration Day which had its roots in marking the graves of Civil War dead.

"Why do we meet together on these solemn occasions?" Judge Phillips asked. "Because men have died, giving their lives that we may enjoy freedom as we do."

The jurist also reminded that May is the month when "Law Day" is marked an observance launched by the American Bar Association in 1957 to promote recognition of the system of laws as the proper foundation of world peace.

The observance is held May 1 to counter May Day propagandizing by Soviet Russia on the Communistic program.

Judge Phillips said a World Court with strong enforcement powers is being recommended as the solution to avoidance of war. "An orderly system of law and courts is a more reasonable approach to international relations than the use of force."

"However, a World Court, to which nations would have recourse, would have to have enforcement powers, just as our local courts are able to have police or sheriffs make court orders effective."

"Russia could not afford to disregard such a World Court if all the free nations of the world were a part of the system," Judge Phillips said.

"We must bend our every energy to obtain such an international court. It is no utopia, it is no dream, any more than the hopes of Washington and Jefferson for a free Republic were dreams."

The jurist commended programs of prayer for peace, but "we, as practical men and women, should work hard at finding the solution in addition to turning to God for help—we can not simply place the burden on the Lord."

"There is confusion in times such as these, but we must be true to the memory of such men as John Foster Dulles or the fallen war dead who laid down their lives for peace," the judge concluded.

Russ Heddleston was program chairman.

Attorney Claims Client Couldn't Have Been Robber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus attorney has told the governor's 'egal advisor he has evidence showing that a man convicted of a Toledo robbery was in Mexico when the crime occurred.

Attorney George T. Gareff presented affidavits at a pardon hearing Thursday. They purported to show that his client, John Michoff, an Ohio Penitentiary inmate, couldn't have committed the $2,500 robbery Dec. 28, 1955.

The hearing was held before Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's legal advisor, Rankin Gibson, who said he will make recommendations in the case within three days. DiSalle is expected to give a decision next week, Gibson added.

A newsman prompted the investigation into Michoff's alleged innocence when he secured sworn statements of two men who claim they were with Michoff in Mexico when the Toledo robbery occurred.

The newsman also reportedly produced Mexican court records showing that Michoff and the other two men were in an auto accident two days before the crime and that Michoff was in court there the day after the robbery.

DiSalle's Tax Revenue Estimates Called Low

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Republican leaders in the Legislature say Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's estimates on tax revenue are about 25 million dollars too low.

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) and Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan), Senate and House minority leaders, said Thursday the Democratic governor's budgetary estimates "were made early in the year, before present, increased revenue trends had been established."

DiSalle replied to their comments: "One of the most uncertain things a public official can do is to estimate revenue."

Driver, 16, Penalized

LISBON—Michael Joseph, 16, of Homeworth was sentenced Thursday to 10 days in the detention room of the County Jail by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for reckless operation. It was learned his driver's license was suspended May 4 for 30 days for truancy and Judge Tobin said he will suspend his license for another 60 days.

First Lady Entertains 514 Aged And Blind Men, Women

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The First Lady had a smile, a handshake, a gay word for each of her special guests—even a kiss for some. All of them were at least 65, some over 90.

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower had invited the 514 men and women from local homes for the aged and the blind for a White House garden party — the first of its kind.

Some were in wheelchairs. Some walked with crutches or canes. Some were blind. But all waited with an expectant smile as they lined up to meet their hostess.

Mrs. Eisenhower didn't disappoint them.

Under a tree near the President's golfing green, she stood on a square of pale green carpet in her pink silk dress and told them "I am awfully happy you came."

Mrs. Eisenhower complimented the women on what they were wearing, worried that wheelchairs were sticking in ruts in the grass and that the 90-degree heat might be too much for the elderly guests.

But they took it all in happy stride, enjoying refreshments served at two bright red and white striped awning stands. They sat on chairs and listened to the Marine Corps band in scarlet and white uniforms playing on a knoll across the lawn.

Westgate 6th Graders Visit City Sewage Plant

In connection with their study of municipal services, 36 sixth graders at Westgate School made a guided tour Thursday afternoon at the city's new sewage disposal plant, which adjoins the school.

The children were shown step-by-step how the city's waste is processed until it flows back into the river again in the form of heavily - chlorinated water. The guides were Charles Huddlestun, superintendent, and Elmer English, operator.

The students were accompanied by their teachers, Miss Helen McGregor and Miss Pauline Smiley. Huddlestun said it was the first guided tour through the plant since an "open house" program was held last November.

Marietta College Gets Grant Of $400,000

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—A $400,000 grant for a new chemistry building has been given to Marietta College by Mrs. Marie Selby and the William Selby and Marie Selby Foundation of Sarasota, Fla. The late Mr. Selby was a former Mariettan.

The grant is part of the college's 125th anniversary development campaign.

Proposed Wings On State Building In Flapping Stage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The proposed wings for the state office building here are in the flapping stage.

Whether the project finally "takes off" hinges on two things:

1. Legislative approval of a nearly 97-million-dollar capital improvements bill, which contains an 11-million-dollar allowance for more state offices.

2. Failure of the state to obtain a site for a new office building by trade state lands.

The State Office Building Commission recently proposed that if it couldn't get a site for a new structure, the alternate plan would be to build two wings on the present building.

The capital improvements bill was introduced in the Ohio House Thursday by Rep. G. D. Tablack (D-Mahoning).

Vets Cautioned To Pay VA Insurance In Time

Veterans have fallen into a bad—and sometimes costly habit—of paying their VA insurance premiums late in the grace period, William Holsinger, manager of the Cleveland Regional Office of the Veterans Administration, warned today.

The law does not permit payment of insurance after expiration date of the policy, and monthly several instances develop in insurance being lost through expiration of the policy a few days before death, Holsinger noted.

Holsinger explained that the grace period of 30 days is allowed when an insurance premium is not paid on time. If the premium is not paid up to date during the grace period, the policy lapses.

The Veterans Administration does not send out premium due notices so veterans must watch their due dates themselves, Holsinger said.

Newly Organized Plant, Local To Air Wage Pact

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it expects to open contract negotiations Thursday with the management of a newly unionized Porcelain Products Co. of Carey, a division of the A. B. Chance Co.

The concern manufactures porcelain products for high tension electric voltage. It employes 150 at peak production.

The IBOP said the employes were organized in April by Clyde Jones of Alliance and Frank Dales of East Liverpool, international vice presidents. Then the union petitioned the National Labor Relations Board office at Cleveland for an election to choose a bargaining agent. The IBOP won by a 3 - to - 1 margin, the union announced.

DiSalle Would Agree To Blue Laws Repeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says he will agree to outright repeal of blue laws if they cannot be revised to include "reasonable exceptions" to now-banned Sunday sales.

"If you cannot write the law to make reasonable exceptions, then you have no other alternative," he told a news conference Thursday.

Hearings have been scheduled in the Ohio House Judiciary Committee Wednesday night on bills to revamp the blue laws and repeal them outright.

Property Approved

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday approved four lots added to the Lakeview Allotment's 3rd Addition at Guilford Lake State Park. The County Health Department gave its sanction earlier. The property is owned by Raymond Whinnery of Lisbon R. D. 4.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Serve Small Portions If Child Eats Slowly

According to UNICEF, about 600,000,000 children of the world are sick or hungry. In contrast, think of the thousands of children here in the United States whose mothers make mealtimes miserable for them by trying to make them eat the abundance of food set before them. An Ohio mother writes: "How much time should be allowed a three - year - old for breakfast or any other meal?

By Garry Meyers

"He likes to dawdle and fool around. One morning I timed him. He was sitting at the table almost two hours. I get so agravated that I can't seem to start my day's work.

"We're trying something different now.

"If he isn't through in half an hour, we take his breakfast away and make him eat it for lunch before he can have anything else.

"Are we being too hard on him?"

—:—

MY REPLY in part:

It looks as if you require that little child to sit until he has finished what you put on his plate.

The chances are, you give him several foods and he probably stirs them together, then to eat this mess at lunch is a hard ordeal.

Please don't make him sit until his plate is clean or make him eat at lunch what's left from breakfast.

Let him leave the table when he likes, with the clear understanding that he can't come back or have anything to eat until the next regular meal.

You can get best results if you keep very calm.

Serve a very, very small portion of food at a time. When I say small portion, I mean small, not a teaspoonful, but a portion no bigger than a lima bean.

When he has finished that, serve a like small portion of another single food. Be stingy if he asks for "seconds."

—:—

LET YOUR child do his own eating. Never command him to eat.

Some parents write of keeping the child at the table for an hour or more or until he leaves a clean plate. This would not happen if very small helpings were given.

Let the child tell how small or let him serve himself. Moreover, if this child did not have candy, cake or other sweets between meals, he would clean his own plate.

My bulletins, "Eating Problems I & II," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Officers' Election Conducted By Beaver Heart Association

H. Hazen Wilson Jr. of Beaver was elected president by the Board of Directors at the annual meeting of the Beaver County Heart Association Tuesday evening at the Penn Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

Others elected include Dr. David L. Chamovitz of Aliquippa, president - elect and vice president; Mrs. Joseph H. Widmer, secretary, and James W. Gordon, treasurer, both of Rochester, and Mrs. Carl F. Brand of Beaver, executive director.

Some 15 directors whose terms expired this year were re - elected for three - year terms. Officers serve one year. Directors also elected Wilson to serve as chairman of the executive committee and Gordon as chairman of the finance committee.

The association reported that referrals at the heart clinic at Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls are running ahead of last year. Some 45 cases have been handled and many are receiving penicillin for the prevention of recurrent rheumatic fever attacks, free of charge.

Mrs. Brand reported that a grant of $7,500, to be paid quarterly was made last November to the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh for research in heart disease. She said that scholarships to the Community School Health Education Workshops at the University of Pittsburgh and Slippery Rock State Teachers College are being made available. Cost will be shared by the association, the Beaver County Cancer Society and the Beaver County Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Frances J. Lesnick of Ambridge, general campaign chairman of the 1959 fund campaign, reported $22,175.16 had been received in contributions.

Jack Malone, Beaver Valley Times editor, reported he recently attended a meeting of representatives of United Fund organizations of Beaver County to discuss forming a countywide United Fund organization.

Admiral's Son And 5 Other Midshipmen Will Join Army

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An admiral's son who doesn't like the water and five other midshipmen are making naval history—by becoming officers in the U.S. Army.

They'll make the switch immediately after graduation from the academy next week.

It's by choice.

And although they give a variety of reason, it boils down to the fact that they prefer Army service to the Navy.

Marshall H. Wooldridge of Bethesda, Md., 24-year-old son of Admiral E. Tyler Wooldridge, has never made any bones about his preference for the infantry. His parents long ago accepted the fact. The boy just doesn't like the water.

The switch-over is natural for Paul F. Keefe of Baltimore and Arthur Emerson of Coke, Va. Their fathers were Army colonels.

The other three graduating middies making the switch are John M. Rourke of Springfield, Ill.; Michael Joseph Cronin of Red Bank, N.J., and James W. Tritz of Humboldt, S.D.

The way was opened just this year for graduates of the service academies to volunteer for another service. Navy previously had been sending a portion of its class to the Air Force and Marines under quota systems — but never to the Army although some of its officers transferred after a period of sea duty.

Not Much Grass Cutting This Summer For Him

HOWARD CITY, Mich. (AP)—It may be a short summer of grass cutting for Vernard Garlinghouse.

A tandem truck loaded with 4,600 gallons of tar tipped over on Garlinghouse's front lawn, spreading a sticky mass almost to the front door.

City trucks and fire fighting equipment cleaned up the roadway but could do little for the Garlinghouse lawn.

The truck driver said he lost control of his vehicle on a curve.

Shippingport

Volunteer firemen will hold a public square dance Saturday from 9 to 12 midnight at the Community Building.

Some 12 attended and lunch was served by Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Dorothy Neuber. June hostesses will be Mrs. Marker and Mrs. Robeson.

Blood is really "thicker than water"—about six times as thick.

10 Buses Haul Pupils To South Side Picnic

Ten school buses were used to transport students of South Side high and elementary schools near Hookstown to their picnic today at Rock Springs Park at Chester.

Only the first three grades of the elementary school did not attend. Students scheduled to leave the school at 12:30 p. m., were to remain at the park until 4:30 p. m. They brought picnic lunches.

Teachers and principals also attended. The school has 470 high school students and 572 elementary pupils.

Wellsville Boat Club Will Open On Saturday

The Wellsville Boat Club will officially open its season Memorial Day. The completely rebuilt facilities contain 170 feet of dock space.

Emmett Ketchum, commodore, said some docking space still is available. An Akron area trailing boat club is expected to visit the dock at the lower end of 18th St. Saturday, he said.

The facilities had to be rebuilt because of the heavy ice damage the past winter.

An Ohio mother writes: "How much time should be allowed a three - year - old for breakfast or any other meal?

By Garry Meyers

"He likes to dawdle and fool around. One morning I timed him. He was sitting at the table almost two hours. I get so agravated that I can't seem to start my day's work.

"We're trying something different now.

"If he isn't through in half an hour, we take his breakfast away and make him eat it for lunch before he can have anything else.

"Are we being too hard on him?"

—:—

MY REPLY in part:

It looks as if you require that little child to sit until he has finished what you put on his plate.

The chances are, you give him several foods and he probably stirs them together, then to eat this mess at lunch is a hard ordeal.

Please don't make him sit until his plate is clean or make him eat at lunch what's left from breakfast.

Let him leave the table when he likes, with the clear understanding that he can't come back or have anything to eat until the next regular meal.

You can get best results if you keep very calm.

Serve a very, very small portion of food at a time. When I say small portion, I mean small, not a teaspoonful, but a portion no bigger than a lima bean.

When he has finished that, serve a like small portion of another single food. Be stingy if he asks for "seconds."

—:—

LET YOUR child do his own eating. Never command him to eat.

Some parents write of keeping the child at the table for an hour or more or until he leaves a clean plate. This would not happen if very small helpings were given.

Let the child tell how small or let him serve himself. Moreover, if this child did not have candy, cake or other sweets between meals, he would clean his own plate.

My bulletins, "Eating Problems I & II," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Officers' Election Conducted By Beaver Heart Association

H. Hazen Wilson Jr. of Beaver was elected president by the Board of Directors at the annual meeting of the Beaver County Heart Association Tuesday evening at the Penn Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

Others elected include Dr. David L. Chamovitz of Aliquippa, president - elect and vice president; Mrs. Joseph H. Widmer, secretary, and James W. Gordon, treasurer, both of Rochester, and Mrs. Carl F. Brand of Beaver, executive director.

Some 15 directors whose terms expired this year were re - elected for three - year terms. Officers serve one year. Directors also elected Wilson to serve as chairman of the executive committee and Gordon as chairman of the finance committee.

The association reported that referrals at the heart clinic at Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls are running ahead of last year. Some 45 cases have been handled and many are receiving penicillin for the prevention of recurrent rheumatic fever attacks, free of charge.

Mrs. Brand reported that a grant of $7,500, to be paid quarterly was made last November to the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh for research in heart disease. She said that scholarships to the Community School Health Education Workshops at the University of Pittsburgh and Slippery Rock State Teachers College are being made available. Cost will be shared by the association, the Beaver County Cancer Society and the Beaver County Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Frances J. Lesnick of Ambridge, general campaign chairman of the 1959 fund campaign, reported $22,175.16 had been received in contributions.

Jack Malone, Beaver Valley Times editor, reported he recently attended a meeting of representatives of United Fund organizations of Beaver County to discuss forming a countywide United Fund organization.

Admiral's Son And 5 Other Midshipmen Will Join Army

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An admiral's son who doesn't like the water and five other midshipmen are making naval history—by becoming officers in the U.S. Army.

They'll make the switch immediately after graduation from the academy next week.

It's by choice.

And although they give a variety of reason, it boils down to the fact that they prefer Army service to the Navy.

Marshall H. Wooldridge of Bethesda, Md., 24-year-old son of Admiral E. Tyler Wooldridge, has never made any bones about his preference for the infantry. His parents long ago accepted the fact. The boy just doesn't like the water.

The switch-over is natural for Paul F. Keefe of Baltimore and Arthur Emerson of Coke, Va. Their fathers were Army colonels.

The other three graduating middies making the switch are John M. Rourke of Springfield, Ill.; Michael Joseph Cronin of Red Bank, N.J., and James W. Tritz of Humboldt, S.D.

The way was opened just this year for graduates of the service academies to volunteer for another service. Navy previously had been sending a portion of its class to the Air Force and Marines under quota systems — but never to the Army although some of its officers transferred after a period of sea duty.

Not Much Grass Cutting This Summer For Him

HOWARD CITY, Mich. (AP)—It may be a short summer of grass cutting for Vernard Garlinghouse.

A tandem truck loaded with 4,600 gallons of tar tipped over on Garlinghouse's front lawn, spreading a sticky mass almost to the front door.

City trucks and fire fighting equipment cleaned up the roadway but could do little for the Garlinghouse lawn.

The truck driver said he lost control of his vehicle on a curve.

10 Buses Haul Pupils To South Side Picnic

Ten school buses were used to transport students of South Side high and elementary schools near Hookstown to their picnic today at Rock Springs Park at Chester.

Only the first three grades of the elementary school did not attend. Students scheduled to leave the school at 12:30 p. m., were to remain at the park until 4:30 p. m. They brought picnic lunches.

Teachers and principals also attended. The school has 470 high school students and 572 elementary pupils.

Wellsville Boat Club Will Open On Saturday

The Wellsville Boat Club will officially open its season Memorial Day. The completely rebuilt facilities contain 170 feet of dock space.

Emmett Ketchum, commodore, said some docking space still is available. An Akron area trailing boat club is expected to visit the dock at the lower end of 18th St. Saturday, he said.

The facilities had to be rebuilt because of the heavy ice damage the past winter.

Insects have simple eardrums on their legs or on the sides of their bodies. These organs help them to hear vibrations in the ground as well as sound vibrations in the air.

Sparked By Manufacturing

Employment Gains Noted Again By West Virginia

CHARLESTON — Non-agriculture wage and salary employment in West Virginia, sparked by gains in manufacturing, showed improvement for the second straight month, reaching 458,000 in mid-April.

The estimate by the Department of Employment Security topped the previous month's 454,600 by 3,400 and was 2,100 above April of 1958.

Manufacturing employment supported by an upward movement of 1,800 in durable goods, advanced 2,200 during the past 30 days to 125,400, the department said in its monthly report.

Though 4,400 short of its year ago complement, seasonal expansion and increased outdoor activities boosted non - manufacturing employment 1,300 above March's 331,000.

The continued uptrend in manufacturing was offset by somewhat the continued decline in coal mine employment. The number of miners engaged ni work slipped 1,600

The continued uptrend in manufacturing was offset by somewhat the continued decline in coal mine employment. The number of miners engaged in work slipped 1,600 from March to 59,600. The latest reduction extended mining losses to four consecutive months. Reflecting level, the mid - April estimate was 5,100 below the 69,900 of the same month last year.

The department report added:

"For the second straight month, advances posted in manufacturing employment exceeded 2,000. Mid-April staffs of 125,400 in this major segment were 6,500 above those of a year ago.

"Durable goods' components either held firm or registered over-the - month gains as employment advanced to 78,800. Additions of 700 in fabricated metals, followed by 600 primary metals, led the March - April rally.

"Lumber, wood products, furniture and fixtures upped employment 300 since the last report in regaining its year ago level of 7,900. Lesser increases of 200 in stone, clay and glass and 100 in other durable goods lifted employment in these industrial groups to 22,700 and 3,400.

"All major durable goods activities, with the exception of pottery and related, were well above April, 1958, estimates.

"Non-durable goods, 200 below a year ago, posted a gain of 300 since mid - March. Over - the-month net gains of 200 each in chemicals and food boosted employment in both 100 above their respective year ago levels. Apparel added 100 since the last report and, at 4,200, was within 100 of last April's 4,300. Textile mill products, though unchanged from March, indicated a recent loss of 100. Printing and publishing remained at the 3,700 of one and 12 months ago . . . ."

With the exception of coal mining, all non-manufacturing groups either topped or equaled year ago levels, the department said.

Contract construction was up 2,400 over last April's 19,600. There were 400 more working in trade establishments. Though 600 less than the 46,100 of a year ago, transportation, communications and public utilities added 300 during the March - April period. Service employment recently rose 800 to reach last year's level of 44,400. Finance, insurance and real estate, 400 short of last year's estimate, retained the 12,000 level of a month ago.

Government agencies acquired 200 additional employes since mid-March and at 62,300, was 800 above the 61,500 of last April.

'Flying' Wood Hurts Woman

A Wellsville woman suffered severe head injures Thursday afternoon about 4:30 in Pittsburgh when struck by a wind-blown piece of wood as she walked through the business district with a friend.

Mrs. Eleanor Logan, 45, wife of Robert Logan, 516 Broadway, was admitted to Mercy Hospital with a deep head laceration. X-ray examination was scheduled to determine the full extent of her injuries.

Mrs. Logan was struck by the piece of lumber during a heavy thunderstorm that whipped up high winds in the Pittsburgh area. She was walking in the 300 block of Forbes Ave. with a neighbor, Mrs. Jennie Hammond of 1st St., Wellsville.

Ironically, Mrs. Logan had left Mercy Hospital a short time earlier. She goes there every two weeks for treatment, her husband explained. Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Hammond had just emerged from a store and were walking toward the nearby Sherwyn Hotel when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Logan lost consciousness when the piece of wood struck her on the side of the head and the forehead. Mrs. Hammond was unhurt, although she was spattered with blood from Mrs. Logan's cut scalp. She said the wood "seemed to come from nowhere."

The injured woman's husband said the piece of lumber was about 4-x-4 inches square and about 3 feet long. It bears screw holes and is tapered at one end as though it was part of a building, he said. The husband said he expects to go to Pittsburgh today to check the police reports and make an investigation in an effort to find the point from which the wood became dislodged.

Police turned over the piece of lumber to the injured woman's family last night.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter's Report Stirs Controversy

The infinite variety of women applies to assorted shapes and sizes too. In fact, there is no "average American figure. For this reason, the subject of which dress size a woman can wear at a given weight is one that invariably starts a heated controversy. An Ohioan writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"I have been sewing and altering clothes for quite some time and, to date, I have never seen a size 14 that could fit a person with a bust of 38 inches and a waist of 28 inches.

"Your reducer with those proportions who claims to wear a size 14 said it was tight, and I would say that it must be really tight. I would advise that you check this out again."

—:—

ANOTHER READER, this one from Pennsylvania, also takes issue with this reducer's report, attacking it from the weight standpoint. She dashed off this note:

"It is easy to see that the woman who claims that she can wear a size 14 skirt and dress when she weights 153 pounds is a liar. Readers will lose confidence in your column when you print anything so stupid. I am enclosing a printed chart on measurements to prove my point."

Spirited criticism adds zest to this column and is always welcome. The printed chart sent along listed these streamlined measurements for size 14: Bust 36½; waist 26½; hips 37½. No weights were listed. Average measurements for size 14, as given in the scientific system of sizing developed by the U. S. Department of Commerce, are these: Bust 35½; waist 27; hips 38 regular, 40 for full hips.

Now let's look at our reducer's measurements, for "where" a person carries the weight makes a sizeabie difference. By dint of daily exercise, our model who weighs 153 pounds for 5 feet 6 has these measurements: Bust 38; waist 28; hips 39.

By way of explanation: In many styles, the bust measurement is cut full, providing an allowance of three or four inches of fullness. It's the waist that hews to the line, and there is relatively little leeway through this measurement. Our model's waist is only one inch over average for size 14. Also, her hips measure only one inch over the average for size 14.

On this particular story, I called the reducer via long distance. She frankly admitted the dress was a tight 14 and the skirt was made from stretchy material, but held to the size 14. Her aim was to slim down to become a perfect 14.

We assume from her height of 5 feet 6 and her comparatively slender waist for 153 pounds that she is fairly long - waisted, which is always a help size - wise.

SO IT'S THE waist that makes it possible for her to squeeze into that 14. However, in fairness to the interested readers who wrote, size 16 would be a better fit at her present measurements.

If the young woman from Ohio whose story started this size controversy reads this column, we hope she will write in again and bring us up to date on her present size, weight and measurements. And how about a picture?

Sparked By Manufacturing

Employment Gains Noted Again By West Virginia

CHARLESTON — Non-agriculture wage and salary employment in West Virginia, sparked by gains in manufacturing, showed improvement for the second straight month, reaching 458,000 in mid-April.

The estimate by the Department of Employment Security topped the previous month's 454,600 by 3,400 and was 2,100 above April of 1958.

Manufacturing employment supported by an upward movement of 1,800 in durable goods, advanced 2,200 during the past 30 days to 125,400, the department said in its monthly report.

Though 4,400 short of its year ago complement, seasonal expansion and increased outdoor activities boosted non - manufacturing employment 1,300 above March's 331,000.

The continued uptrend in manufacturing was offset by somewhat the continued decline in coal mine employment. The number of miners engaged ni work slipped 1,600

The continued uptrend in manufacturing was offset by somewhat the continued decline in coal mine employment. The number of miners engaged in work slipped 1,600 from March to 59,600. The latest reduction extended mining losses to four consecutive months. Reflecting level, the mid - April estimate was 5,100 below the 69,900 of the same month last year.

The department report added:

"For the second straight month, advances posted in manufacturing employment exceeded 2,000. Mid-April staffs of 125,400 in this major segment were 6,500 above those of a year ago.

"Durable goods' components either held firm or registered over-the - month gains as employment advanced to 78,800. Additions of 700 in fabricated metals, followed by 600 primary metals, led the March - April rally.

"Lumber, wood products, furniture and fixtures upped employment 300 since the last report in regaining its year ago level of 7,900. Lesser increases of 200 in stone, clay and glass and 100 in other durable goods lifted employment in these industrial groups to 22,700 and 3,400.

"All major durable goods activities, with the exception of pottery and related, were well above April, 1958, estimates.

"Non-durable goods, 200 below a year ago, posted a gain of 300 since mid - March. Over - the-month net gains of 200 each in chemicals and food boosted employment in both 100 above their respective year ago levels. Apparel added 100 since the last report and, at 4,200, was within 100 of last April's 4,300. Textile mill products, though unchanged from March, indicated a recent loss of 100. Printing and publishing remained at the 3,700 of one and 12 months ago . . . ."

With the exception of coal mining, all non-manufacturing groups either topped or equaled year ago levels, the department said.

Contract construction was up 2,400 over last April's 19,600. There were 400 more working in trade establishments. Though 600 less than the 46,100 of a year ago, transportation, communications and public utilities added 300 during the March - April period. Service employment recently rose 800 to reach last year's level of 44,400. Finance, insurance and real estate, 400 short of last year's estimate, retained the 12,000 level of a month ago.

Government agencies acquired 200 additional employes since mid-March and at 62,300, was 800 above the 61,500 of last April.

'Flying' Wood Hurts Woman

A Wellsville woman suffered severe head injures Thursday afternoon about 4:30 in Pittsburgh when struck by a wind-blown piece of wood as she walked through the business district with a friend.

Mrs. Eleanor Logan, 45, wife of Robert Logan, 516 Broadway, was admitted to Mercy Hospital with a deep head laceration. X-ray examination was scheduled to determine the full extent of her injuries.

Mrs. Logan was struck by the piece of lumber during a heavy thunderstorm that whipped up high winds in the Pittsburgh area. She was walking in the 300 block of Forbes Ave. with a neighbor, Mrs. Jennie Hammond of 1st St., Wellsville.

Ironically, Mrs. Logan had left Mercy Hospital a short time earlier. She goes there every two weeks for treatment, her husband explained. Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Hammond had just emerged from a store and were walking toward the nearby Sherwyn Hotel when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Logan lost consciousness when the piece of wood struck her on the side of the head and the forehead. Mrs. Hammond was unhurt, although she was spattered with blood from Mrs. Logan's cut scalp. She said the wood "seemed to come from nowhere."

The injured woman's husband said the piece of lumber was about 4-x-4 inches square and about 3 feet long. It bears screw holes and is tapered at one end as though it was part of a building, he said. The husband said he expects to go to Pittsburgh today to check the police reports and make an investigation in an effort to find the point from which the wood became dislodged.

Police turned over the piece of lumber to the injured woman's family last night.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter's Report Stirs Controversy

The infinite variety of women applies to assorted shapes and sizes too. In fact, there is no "average American figure. For this reason, the subject of which dress size a woman can wear at a given weight is one that invariably starts a heated controversy. An Ohioan writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"I have been sewing and altering clothes for quite some time and, to date, I have never seen a size 14 that could fit a person with a bust of 38 inches and a waist of 28 inches.

"Your reducer with those proportions who claims to wear a size 14 said it was tight, and I would say that it must be really tight. I would advise that you check this out again."

ANOTHER READER, this one from Pennsylvania, also takes issue with this reducer's report, attacking it from the weight standpoint. She dashed off this note:

"It is easy to see that the woman who claims that she can wear a size 14 skirt and dress when she weights 153 pounds is a liar. Readers will lose confidence in your column when you print anything so stupid. I am enclosing a printed chart on measurements to prove my point."

Spirited criticism adds zest to this column and is always welcome. The printed chart sent along listed these streamlined measurements for size 14: Bust 36½; waist 26½; hips 37½. No weights were listed. Average measurements for size 14, as given in the scientific system of sizing developed by the U. S. Department of Commerce, are these: Bust 35½; waist 27; hips 38 regular, 40 for full hips.

Now let's look at our reducer's measurements, for "where" a person carries the weight makes a sizeable difference. By dint of daily exercise, our model who weighs 153 pounds for 5 feet 6 has these measurements: Bust 38; waist 28; hips 39.

By way of explanation: In many styles, the bust measurement is cut full, providing an allowance of three or four inches of fullness. It's the waist that hews to the line, and there is relatively little leeway through this measurement. Our model's waist is only one inch over average for size 14. Also, her hips measure only one inch over the average for size 14.

On this particular story, I called the reducer via long distance. She frankly admitted the dress was a tight 14 and the skirt was made from stretchy material, but held to the size 14. Her aim was to slim down to become a perfect 14.

We assume from her height of 5 feet 6 and her comparatively slender waist for 153 pounds that she is fairly long - waisted, which is always a help size - wise.

SO IT'S THE waist that makes it possible for her to squeeze into that 14. However, in fairness to the interested readers who wrote, size 16 would be a better fit at her present measurements.

If the young woman from Ohio whose story started this size controversy reads this column, we hope she will write in again and bring us up to date on her present size, weight and measurements. And how about a picture?
